J. Waldo Smith, Who Built N. Y. C. Water Supply System, Dead

Engineer for World's Greatest Water-Supply System Dead of Heart Disease in Seventy-third Year—Awarded John Fritz Medal.

J. Waldo Smith, who built New York city's $185,000,000 Catskill Water Supply System, and was consulting engineer on water supply projects for nine other cities of the United States and Canada, including Kingston, died of heart disease on Saturday afternoon at his residence, 145 East Thirty-fifth street, New York city, in his seventy-third year.

Mr. Smith was born on a farm in Lincoln, Mass., a small town near Boston, on March 9, 1861. He graduated from Phillips Academy in 1881 and from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1887. In his 15th year he began his engineering experience in the simple waterworks of Lincoln and at the age of 17 became the chief engineer of that plant, his duties including those of fireman and pump operative, as well as those of general superintendent of the outside work.

From 1881 to 1883 he was an assistant in the office of the Essex Company, Lawrence, Mass., under Hiram F. Mills, chief engineer.

During the summer vacations of 1884 and 1885 he was with the Holyoke Water Power Company and served as assistant engineer with that company from 1887 to 1890.

In 1890 he went to New Jersey and became connected with the East Jersey Water Company as assistant engineer and was put in charge of the construction of two dams for the water supply of Newark. In 1891, at the completion of the work, he was made principal assistant engineer, and for the succeeding five years was in charge of the operation and maintenance of the system, together with the additional minor construction, such as the extension of pipe lines, acting not only as engineer, but as superintendent also. In 1897 he was made the engineer and superintendent of several water companies in New Jersey, the principal of which were located at Paterson, Passaic and Montclair.

In January, 1901, he was appointed Chief Engineer of the East Jersey Water Company in addition to his other duties, and was placed in charge of important water interests in New Jersey, which supplied approximately 500,000 people. His first work in this position was the general direction of the design and construction of the mechanical filtration plant at Little Falls, New Jersey, which upon its completion was the largest plant of its kind in the United States and far in advance of anything which had been previously undertaken.

In 1902, the East Jersey Water Company undertook to furnish a new water supply for Jersey City, on which a small amount of work had already been done by a contractor who had failed to carry out his contract. These works comprised the Boonton dam, a large masonry overflow structure with a large earth dike, a concrete aqueduct and large pipe lines, of a value of about $7,500,000.

Before the completion of the Jersey City supply, Mr. Smith was tendered the position of chief engineer of the Aqueduct Commissioners of New York city, which he accepted in October, 1903. There were then in progress the New Croton and Muscoot dams, with appurtenant structures, and, on account of dangerous shortage in the water supply, it had become imperative that work on this great new reservoir, of 34 billion gallons capacity, should be brought to completion speedily. During the year 1904 more work was done on the New Croton dam than in any previous year since the signing of the contract in 1892. Surveys were also made for the Cross River (11 billion gallons) and the Croton Falls (16 billion gallons) reservoirs and of a reservoir site near Paterson, New York. At that time, New Croton dam was the highest and largest masonry dam in the world, and its reservoir exceeded in capacity all other waterworks reservoirs.

On August 1, 1905, Mr. Smith was appointed chief engineer of the Board of Water Supply of the city of New York, which had been created for the purpose of furnishing an additional water supply for New York city. The Catskill water supply system is the largest which has ever been undertaken and ranks, for magnitude and cost and for the variety, complexity and difficulty of the physical problems involved, among the most notable enterprises ever carried out by any city, state or nation. It extends from the northerly slopes of the Catskill mountains to Staten Island in New York harbor, a distance of 159 miles, and its estimated cost is about $185,000,000. Approximately 20,000 men were employed at the period of maximum construction activity.

The Catskill project provides for the city of New York's daily supply of something over 500 million gallons of water by gravity, delivered into all five boroughs at pressures corresponding to elevations above tide ranging from 225 to 295 feet. Two contiguous drainage areas in the Catskill mountains are the gathering grounds, approximately half the supply being obtained from 257 square miles tributary to Esopus creek, and the remainder from 314 square miles tributary to Schoharie creek. Ashokan reservoir, of 130 billion gallons capacity, on the former stream, and the Schoharie reservoir, of 22 billion gallons capacity, impound the waters.

Conway and Walker Address Women's Republican League

Saturday, October 14, the different branches of the Ulster County Women's Republican Educational League celebrated Assembly Day with a rally and card party at the Governor Clinton Hotel and listened to speeches by candidates up for election on the Republican ticket.

Speakers of the afternoon, introduced by Mrs. A. DuBois Rose, chairman, were as follows: J. Edward Conway, assemblyman, seeking re-election; Harry B. Walker, candidate for mayor of Kingston; Alderman-at-Large Conrad J. Heiselman, seeking re-election; Matthew V. Cahill, candidate for city Judge, and James A. Simpson, county clerk, seeking re-election.

Assemblyman Conway gave the main speech, treating with state politics, as follows:

"The people of the state of New York have been treated recently to a most surprising innovation in state politics. A group of New York city politicians staging a big political 'pow-wow' at Elmira have become self-appointed reformers of upstate. Among the gentlemen running this show were Messrs. Curry and McCooey of the well-known Tammany Hall.

"May I digress for a moment to call to your attention the fact that these gentlemen are as different in political moral structure and political integrity from the Democratic leaders of upstate, as day is from night. You are too well acquainted with the Democrats of Ulster county to require that I tell you that they are, in the main, good and substantial citizens who have the highest standards of conduct as their norm. They are your friends and mine and neither of us would sacrifice that friendship upon the altar of political difference of opinion. As we think of these friends, as Democrats, and then think of the Democratic leaders of the city of New York, we get the startling contrast which makes wholly inconsistent the idea of cooperation between the two. For the ideals of either group must perish to effect that purpose.

"Why then, has up-state Democracy permitted these men to assume the leadership of their party?

"Your Democratic friends will join you in condemnation of that handful of powerful leaders who have a strangle-hold on their party in the city of New York. They do not, for a moment condone the action of that group which has brought that wealthiest city in the world to financial distress. They do not approve of the conduct which saddled the city with two and a half billion dollars of debt and impaired its credit, to the point where taxpayers revolt and banks will no longer lend. They too, were aghast at the facts revealed in the Seabury investigation, which forced the resignation of the mayor, resulted in the removal of a sheriff by a Democratic governor, in the dismissal of three magistrates and the resignation of five others "under fire." They have no sympathy with public officials who refuse to disclose the sources of their sudden wealth any more than we.

"But unfortunately, by propaganda, they are led into this great mistake. They say 'Why get excited about New York city? If the people there are not concerned, it is no concern of ours." The Democratic party deliberately deceives their followers when they say, "Don't pay any attention to the Republicans, they are attempting to keep control of the Ulster County Assemblyman job and the Board of Supervisors by telling the people of the county that if they do not vote Republican the Tammany tiger will come up from New York and eat them." The answer to that is, that the Tammany Tiger is not carnivorous. Its exclusive diet consists of taxpayers' pocketbooks and those it will eat up-state as it has eaten them in the city of New York.

"I say this is Democratic deception because whatever may have been the situation in the past, this year it is alarmingly different.

"We don't have to inquire what these Democratic leaders who have made the name of Tammany Hall infamous, intend to do. They have announced in no uncertain terms that they want complete control of the State Government by the election of Democratic Members of Assembly and complete control of up-state counties through the election of Democratic Boards of Supervisors. They said at Elmira 'Look us over and see how it's done'.

"Were they to succeed, you and I, your Democratic neighbors and friends and mine, would immediately commence to contribute in taxes, to the patronage coffers and 'tin boxes' of a few New York city politicians. They have heavily overtaxed the great city of New York and now turn greedy eyes upon the fairer fields of up-state counties.

"This is no exaggeration. This is the record fact. Let me give you just one illustration.

"As you all know, the Legislature was recently called into extraordinary session for the purpose of helping New York city out of the financial hole which it has dug for itself. Its credit is gone. It can borrow no money. It lacks the funds to meet its payrolls. It is living from hand

Pants Company Increases Wages

Employes of the Kingston Pants Company will go on a 36 hour week, it was announced by William Ross, representative of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, who negotiated the agreement with the employers.

Beginning with today the work-week will consist of four 8-hour days and a half a day on Friday. Piece rates have been increased to make up for the shorter work week. Minimum earnings of 37 cents an hour, or $13.32 for a 36 hour week, have been guaranteed by the firm.

"I am perfectly satisfied to enter into an agreement with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers," stated Samuel Shapiro, the head of the Kingston Pants Company.

"It is impossible to stabilize conditions in the industry without union participation. The Amalgamated sees to it that its members are paid stipulated wages and that conditions laid down by the NRA codes are lived up to. Without such control it is impossible to compete with sweat-shop employers in other towns and pay decent wages in my factory."

The Rev. A. A. Packard, Jr., of the Holy Cross Church, will be the principal speaker at a meeting for shirt workers sponsored by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. The meeting will be held at the headquarters of the union in the Byrne Bros. building, 635 Broadway. The subject of the Rev. Packard's address will be "Human Rights vs. Property Rights." Shirt workers are invited to attend.

Literacy Tests Now Being Held

In addition to the regular registration days when literacy tests are held at the Kingston High School additional tests will be held this evening, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 7:15 to 9:15 o'clock while the night school is in session at the high school. These additional tests are held for the benefit of those who are unable to take the tests on registration days. On registration days, which are Friday and Saturday of this week, tests are held at the high school during registration hours.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Van Vliet of St. Remy, a son. Frank Holcomb, Jr., at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Morris of 461 Washington avenue, a daughter, Anne.

6,773 Register in First Two Days Here

Friday and Saturday Registration For November Election Was Heavy But Two More Days of Registration Left in City—Have to Register to Vote.

Friday and Saturday, the first two days of registration for the November election in Kingston, showed a total registration of 6,773, which was over 500 more than registered two years ago for the same period.

Friday and Saturday of this week are the last two days of registration. Those who are not registered can not vote. Friday the polls will be open from 10 o'clock in the mornnig until 10 o'clock at night and on Saturday the polls will open at 7 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 10 o'clock that night.

The registration here Saturday totaled 3,743, or about 700 more than on Friday. The registration by wards Saturday follows:

EUROPEAN SITUATION NOTED AT A GLANCE

(By The Associated Press).

Big powers at Geneva more for brief recess to think over Germany's withdrawal from World Disarmament Conference.

United States Representative Davis speaks out boldly for recess rather than adjournment of conference, but declines to participate at length in discussions of Reich's leaving League of Nations.

Hitler's campaign for elections and vote for popular support gains momentum in Germany.

Pro-government newspapers in Austria express sympathetic understanding of German foreign policy stand.

Duty of Humanity to Wars' Dead Invoked By Henderson at Meet

Frenzied Applause Followed President Henderson's Address Before Disarmament Conference — Pleaded Faith With Dead Must Not Be Broken.

Geneva, Oct. 16 (AP).—Solemnly invoking the duty imposed on humanity by the great war's ten million dead and twenty million wounded, President Arthur Henderson of the disarmament conference, in a speech today which brought almost frenzied applause from a great crowd, demanded unceasing efforts to prevent the world being plunged into barbarism by another like conflict.

Receiving the international peace associations, a majority of Americans Henderson said "my message is that the struggle for disarmament must go on and that the covenant of the League of Nations shall not be treated as a scrap of paper. We will not break faith with the dead who fell that there should be no more war."

With eloquent gestures, and in an impassioned tone, Henderson continued:

"Nail your flag to the mast of the league.

"Make the peace stronger than the will to war.

"Every delay or defeat must call forth fresh reserves of stubborn and relentless energy. The flower of one generation was slain in the great war and it is our duty to give the world peace in our time."

Making what was deemed an allusion to Germany, he continued, "We must not hesitate to incur risks and make whatever sacrifice may be necessary to ensure the final triumph of the reign of law over international anarchy that breeds war."

Henderson said the withdrawal of Germany necessitated asking that what all were trying to do at Geneva and his answer was that all were endeavoring to organize a peace.

"That enterprise is not confined to members of the League," he said.

"We have welcomed as partners the United States and the Soviet Union and they have both made great contributions to the cause of consolidating world peace—the United States through its nine-power treaty and other agreements concluded at Washington through the Paris pact. The London Naval agreement and numerous conciliation arbitration treaties."

After paying tribute to Russia's peace impulses, Henderson, making what was believed to be another allusion to Germany, said "however just its cause or good its intentions, no government can be trusted to remain loyal to the cause of peace if it flouts the collective peace system to which the world is pledged," continuing:

"The government which rejects that system is inevitably encouraging its citizens to regard war as legitimate and inevitable."

Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan of Washington, D. C., representing the American Council on Disarmament, read to the assemblage cables selected from 50 received in the course of the night from numerous mass meetings in the United States urging continuation of disarmament efforts.

Mrs. Morgan called attention to the fact that she had presented in all more than 1,000 resolutions supporting disarmament efforts from meetings in the United States representing people in all walks of life.

FINDING OF BODY STARTS SEARCH FOR SLAYER

San Diego, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP).—Finding of the dismembered body of 60-year-old Mrs. Laura Ella Straw in two rope-lashed bags in San Diego Bay sent police today on an extended search for Thomas M. Jones, about 40.

Authorities sought to question the man who had boarded with the woman more than a year ago. He was last seen in the neighborhood of her home last Saturday afternoon, about 24 hours before sailors found Mrs. Straw's body.

"Not Guilty," Said Fogarty.

Edward Fogerty of New York city was arrested over the week-end by Officer Soper, who charged him with disorderly conduct in soliciting alms from people in cars on Clinton avenue. This morning Fogerty pleaded not guilty and the hearing was adjourned to Tuesday morning in police court.

Pulled False Alarm

At noon today a boy pulled a false alarm from Box 138, at St. Peter's School to which the fire department responded.

Names On Petition Filed By Taxpayer-Workers Party

Following is a complete list of the names and addresses found on the petition of the newly formed Taxpayer-Workers' Party, which was filed at the board of elections. Another petition containing several hundred additional names is also said to have been prepared but was not filed.

The candidates, all chosen by the regular Democratic party, have withdrawn from this third party ticket, but a committee on vacancies, consisting of Mrs. Seline S. Block, John C. Hummell and Egbert H. Shultz, have until this evening to select new candidates or add to the original list selected by the party. The party at present is without any candidates, its first choices having refused to allow the use of their names on the ballot under the "anchor."

Coal Gas Nearly Killed Two Here

Mrs. M. Hester Wheeler and Her Daughter, Florence, Had Narrow Escape From Asphyxiation on Saturday at Their Home on Cedar Street — Inhalator Successfully Used.

Arranging Friday evening to go on a trip to Newburg on Saturday probably saved the lives of Mrs. M. Hester Wheeler and her daughter, Miss Florence Wheeler, who were found overcome by coal gas escaping from the furnace at their home, 120 Cedar street, on Saturday. The trip had been arranged with Miss K. Arnetta Raschke of Shufeldt street, a cousin of the family, who called at the Wheeler house shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday morning, and was unable to get into the house as no one responded to her ringing of the door bell.

Thinking that something must be wrong Miss Raschke immediately called Clayton Smith of 70 Elmendorf street, a son-in-law of Mrs. Wheeler's, who arrived and unlocked the door. As he enteerd the house he smelled the fumes of the gas and running to the bedroom where the two were sleeping found them in bed and threw open all of the windows to allow the gas to escape and then called for the inhalator from the Central Gas & Electric Corporation, by whom he is employed.

Dr. Kenneth LeFever was also called, and with the aid of the inhalator and the use of methylene blue, the two women were revived, and today were reported to have recovered from the effects of the gas.

An investigation disclosed that a clogged chimney had caused the gas to escape from the furnace and seep into the bedroom on the second floor of the house.

When Mrs. Wheeler and her daughter had retired for the night Friday the windows of their bedroom were open but during the night Mrs. Wheeler complained of being ill and cold and at that time Miss Wheeler arose and closed the windows in case a draft might be causing her illness.

TWO HUMMELS IN CONCERT AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There will be a concert in the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street, Friday evening, November 3, given by the Hummel brothers, Stanley and Earl of Albany, formerly of Kingston, which is expected to be largely attended by their friends and those of the church. These talented young men are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. F. Hummel, former Kingstonians. Earl is a violinist and Stanley a pianist.

R. and G. Brings World Famous Fashions to Kiwanis Ball and Show

Gowns To Be Displayed at Kiwanis Ball and Fashion Show on Thursday at New Armory Will Be Creations of Patou, Agnes, Molyneaux and Lavin.

Rose and Gorman, joining with other merchants who will display fashions in wearing apparel at the Kiwanis Fashion Show and Ball at the new armory on Thursday evening, October 19, will on that date celebrate its 21st anniversary, and bring for the benefit of the Kiwanis audience that evening exact copies of garments from some of the leading designers of Paris, France, including Jean Patou, Agnes, Molyneaux and Jeanne Lavin.

The big store believes that its copies of gowns by world famous designers will create a furore among local fashion experts. A group of chic and fashionable models will be exhibited, each one a certified copy of a distinguished designer. Each garment will bear the designer's label and the New York representative of each designer certifies that each garment is absolutely as labeled.

Rose and Gorman believes that those who have attended the fashion exhibits of exclusive designers in Paris, will recognize in this showing before the Kiwanis audience a history making event in the fashion-minded world of Kingston and Ulster county.

Shot at a Rabbit And Hit a Youth

DeForrest Koons, 17 of Astoria, L. I., who is stopping at Chichester, was brought to the Benedictine Hospital for treatment for gunshot wounds received Sunday. Another young man shot at a rabbit and the shot hit a rock and ricocheted striking young Koons in the face, hand and abdomen. The wounds, however, were not serious, and Dr. Frank L. Eastman, who is attending the youth, said he expected to discharge Koons from the hospital Tuesday.

DOWNTOWN REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETS ON TUESDAY

The Downtown Republican Club, which has a membership of over 200 signed members, will meet at its club on lower Broadway, Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. There will be an interesting program. All are invited.

Judge Foster Will Admit Strewl to Bail And Fix Date of Trial

Application For Bail For Manny Strewl, Under Indictment on Charge of Being One of the Alleged Kidnapers of Young O'Connell, Made Here.

Manny J. Strewl, who is under indictment in Albany county on a charge of being one of the alleged kidnapers of Lieut. John J. O'Connell, Jr., of Albany, who was kidnaped from in front of his home on the night of July 7, made another application to Supreme Court this morning before Judge Foster for bail. Strewl has three times before been denied bail and is now being held in Albany county jail in solitary confinement. Application for bail was made by Daniel H. Prior, attorney for Strewl.

After hearing Mr. Prior and also District Attorney John T. Delaney of Albany, Judge Foster took the papers in the case and announced that he would fix bail after giving the matter due consideration and that he would also fix the date for trial in Albany county. If the case is not moved for trial by the date set the bail will become effective. The defendant, he held, is entitled to a speedy trial or release on bail.

This announcement was made by the court after Mr. Delaney had stated that he was willing to stipulate with counsel for the defendant that the case go to trial on November 13. Mr. Delany opposed the fixing of bail on the grounds that Strewl was the kind of man who probably would not show up for trial if admitted to bail now. He stated that Strewl had twice been convicted of a felony. On one occasion a five year term in Atlanta Penitentiary and a $10,000 fine had been given and on another date Strewl had been sentenced to a term of one year and four months in a Federal penitentiary for impersonating an officer. This record he argued was a reason for refusal of bail.

Involved As Intermediary

Strewl became involved in the O'Connell kidnaping case as an intermediary and later was arrested as one of the gang who was responsible for the kidnaping of the young National Guard officer.

Mr. Prior, who at a prior application before Judge Russell, said the case was "not going to be tried before election, and everybody knew it" asked that Judge Foster fix bail. He stated that twice before dates had been set for the trial but the case was not brought to trial. On August 8, last, Strewl was indicted for the kidnaping together with a number of John Does and Richard Roes. Next day Strewl was arraigned and entered a plea of not guilty and he was held in the county jail at Albany without bail. On August 25 application was made for bail before Judge Russell. At that time Mr. Prior said the district attorney of Albany county had stated that the case would be moved for trial at the opening day of the September term of county court but on September 18 the case was not moved.

Again on September 20 application was made for bail before Judge Russell at Troy. Prior said that at that time the assistant district attorney had appeared and stated that there had been some confusion in regard to the criminal trial work in Albany county and that the case would be ready the third week of the term when criminal cases were taken up after civil work.

On October 2 application was again made to Judge Russell to fix bail and Judge Russell denied the motion and stated the defense counsel might make application before another judge at a later time. Mr. Prior told Judge Foster that on October 2 it had been agreed to try the Strewl case. In arguing the case before Judge Foster today Mr. Prior said the only evidence the prosecution had against Strewl was letters sent to the O'Connell family which handwriting experts said were in the handwriting of the defendant Strewl. He referred to the arrest of five people on September 20 who it was alleged were connected with the kidnaping. Reference was also made to the two held in Rensselaer county in connection with a bank hold-up and murder. Mr. Prior said that the only evidence which they had to connect Strewl and the two held at Rensselaer with the kidnapping was a statement made by a third party who alleges that the two men held for the bank robbery and murder had told this third party that they were involved in the kidnapping. The two men deny their connection.

Mr. Prior stated that there was no evidence to connect Leonard Scarnici and others arrested recently in New York with Strewl. He said that they had not been charged with the kidnapping and never would be brought to trial on that charge. Scarnici and others were being held and were awaiting trial in Rensselaer county for the murder of Detective James A. Stevens in the Rensselaer County Bank and Trust Company holdup.

Strewl was ready for trial now, said Mr. Prior. At the present time he said Strewl was being held in the Albany county jail without bail, in solitary confinement and was not even permitted to read a newspaper. The reason for holding him was in order to question him from time to time. He urged the court to fix bail in a reasonable sum which the defendant might be able to secure. If not he would remain in jail pending trial.

Opposes Fixing of Bail.

Mr. Delaney opposed the fixing of

Poughkeepsie League Plans for Carnival

The Junior League of Poughkeepsie will give a benefit carnival and dance at the state armory on Friday afternoon and evening, October 27. This affair is planned to take the place of the annual charity ball, usually held at Christmas time, and a great many novel features have been arranged.

In the afternoon, there will be attractions for children as well as adults, including a lolly-pop tree, a balloon man, a wishing well, and Mickey and Minnie Mouse. Meanwhile the grown-ups may sit and drink tea while a fashion show with living mannequins parades before their eyes.

An excellent orchestra will provide music for dancing during the evening, but for those who weary there will be ringside seats. Unusual side-shows have been devised to delight even the most sophisticated of visitors.

The carnival will be open from 3 to 6 in the afternoon, and from 8 to midnight.

The members of the Junior League give many hours of service annually to the various local welfare organizations but they depend upon the money raised at the benefit to provide funds to assist in the work these agencies are doing. The entire proceeds of the carnival on October 27 will be devoted to charitable work in Dutchess county.

The Southern Cross

The Southern Cross is the popular name for a southern constellation situated near the Antarctic circle. It consists of four bright stars. The two brilliant stars which mark the summit and foot have nearly the same right ascension. The constellation, therefore, is almost vertical when passing the meridian, and these two stars act as pointers to the Antarctic circle. The Southern Cross is visible all over the southern hemisphere and in the northern hemisphere up to about latitude 25 degrees N.

New Milk Plans To Protect Public

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—To protect the public from disease, the state health department proposes to eliminate the sale of raw milk other than "certified" and to discontinue the grade known as "Grade B Pasteurized."

A hearing will be conducted in New York city November 3 by the Public Health Council for consideration of other proposed amendments to the health code.

"It has become obvious that the present Grade A Raw can no longer be considered safe," the health department said, adding that new knowledge of the relationship between raw milk and communicable diseases is the basis for the proposal. The department stated further that "There is no longer any very substantial difference in requirements for the two existing grades of pasteurized milk."

SEWING CIRCLE TO HOLD ANNUAL CHICKEN SUPPER

The Sewing Circle of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street announces its annual chicken pie supper to be held in the parish hall on Wednesday evening of this week, October 18. Mule Tougher Than Horse

The mule, offspring of a female horse and a male ass, is more easily kept, can subsist upon a greater variety of food and endure heat, hunger and thirst better than the horse. It also generally lives to a greater age and is less susceptible to diseases. Moreover no other beast of burden is so sure footed and so capable of enduring fatigue. Although a male horse is sometimes crossed with a female ass to produce what is known as the "hinny," the mule is far superior to this last-named hybrid in size and strength as well as in appearance.

POLICEMAN SAVES $45 BY USING 'BLUE COAL'

Gets Better Heat in the Bargain...

Thomas C. Davis, Hempstead, L. I.

When buying home fuel, why take chances with uncertain substitutes for anthracite? Why not profit by the experience of thousands who—after giving these so-called "bargain fuels" a fair trial—have shifted to 'blue coal' for healthier, more dependable, money-saving heat? Take the case of Officer Thomas C. Davis of Hempstead, L. I., for example. Here's what he says:

"I was won over to the use of a substitute fuel by the fact that it costs a little less than coal. But I had to burn so much more of it that over the winter it cost me more to heat my home than it would with a good hard coal. So last winter I switched to 'blue coal'. And I'm glad I did, too, because it not only saved me $45, in cold cash but it gave us steadier, cleaner heat in the bargain. 'blue coal' is worth while—that's why I recommend it to my friends."

Countless other home owners are enjoying the same complete heating satisfaction with 'blue coal'. And no wonder. For 'blue coal' is mined from the choicest seams of the Northern Pennsylvania Anthracite fields. No effort or expense is spared in cleaning and preparing it for use in your home. And so that you can be sure of always getting this same fine anthracite—that for generations has been famous for its clean, healthful, economical heat—it is now colored a distinctive blue.

Play safe. Anthracite gives you so much better heat for less money. And for real economy, with less attention, specify 'blue coal'.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 16 (AP).—Muddled financial markets today groped hesitantly for elusive price trend indications and traders generally hugged lines of safety while waiting for developments.

Transactions in stocks were at a minimum and most leading issues displayed a sagging tendency. The rails and various industrials were heavy at times.

Grains dipped and rallied and cotton slipped. Bonds showed a shifting mood. The dollar again sported in foreign exchange dealings, but later gave up some of its gains.

Shares of 1 to 3 or more points at one time included those of case, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Chrysler, American Can, Johns-Manville, Union Pacific Distillers, New York Central, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, American Smelting, U. S. Smelting, DuPont, Celanese and Baltimore and Ohio. Some resistance was shown by a few of the oils and utilities.

Market observers were not in agreement as to just what effect the foreign situation will have on Domestic markets. In times when the United States was a debtor nation, "war talk" abroad was generally considered bullish in that the powers in conflicts might be expected to greatly increase their imports here. Now, some Wall Street analysts explain, this country is the greatest creditor nation in the world and most foreign countries, already heavily in debt here, might find it difficult to negotiate additional purchases of supplies if the American government decided to permit exports to belligerents.

Negligence Action In Supreme Court

An action for negligence was brought in supreme court before Judge Foster this morning by Peter A. Johnson against William J. Lunney. Plaintiff is employed as a brakeman on the Erie Railroad. He alleges that on February 21, 1932, while he as brakeman was protecting a crossing in Pine Bush, in the vicinity of which his train was operating, he was struck by the car of Mr. Lunney of Kingston, which was being operated by the brother of defendant. He alleges that the car of defendant struck him, inflicting serious injuries.

Mr. Johnson seeks to recover for loss of sense of smell and taste which he alleges resulted from injuries which he suffered. He was also injured about the face and body and seeks to recover for these lacerations and contusions.

LeRoy Lounsberry appears for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for defendant.

Motoring at 11,000 Feet

Fall Rive Pass carries a magnificent government highway over the continental divide between Estes park and Grand lake. The road in question is perhaps the highest continuous highway in North America, extending for nearly 10 miles above timberline, which in that region is at an altitude of approximately 11,000 feet, according to the Kansas City Times. Trail ridge, along which the road has been built, is so open as to leave the motorist virtually exposed to any blizzard that may sweep across the divide there, but the highway is so wide and the grade is so easy, that even in a storm he is not likely to feel any sense of danger. From a scenic point of view, this highway that crosses the watershed between the Atlantic and Pacific slopes is one of the wonders of the modern world, which of course, is hard for Americans to believe, because it happens to be at home.

Boyce-Henion.

Charles Maynard Boyce of 61 Van Buren street, and Miss Alice Mae Henion of 422 Hasbrouck avenue, were united in marriage on Sunday by the Rev. C. E. Rignall, pastor of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. They were attended by Alfred J. Henion and Miss Elizabeth Boyce.

Young-Prosper.

Rifton, Oct. 16.—Harry Eckert, who is justice of the peace, performed the wedding ceremony of Carl Young of Syracuse and Esther Prosper of Esopus, Friday, October 13, at 3 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Goff were the attendants. The bride's mother was present on the occasion.

Announces Engagement.

Mrs. S. W. Deyo of 216 Tremper avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Willa Mae to C. Russell Edwards, son of Charles Russell Edwards of 297 Washington avenue. The wedding will take place at the home of Mr. Edwards' sister, Mrs. Elliott Wight of 17 Johnston avenue, Saturday, October 28 at 10 a. m.

Ball-Silkworth

New Paltz, Oct. 16—Saturday, October 7, Miss Violetta Silkworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Silkworth of Walden and formerly of New Paltz became the bride of Roberly Ball of Goshen. They were married in the parsonage of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church in Newburgh by the pastor, the Rev. J. Robert Halmshaw, a former pastor of New Paltz Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Ball will reside in Goshen.

Burkart-Schriffer.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Brooks of Albany avenue motored to Jersey City where they attended the wedding of Mrs. Brooks' nephew, Charles L. Burkart, and Miss Kathleen L. Schriffer. The wedding was solemnized in St. Matthew's Church and a reception followed at the Fairmont Hotel. It was one of the most brilliant weddings of the season, the bride being a very popular member of the younger social set. Among telegrams received was one from President Roosevelt. The young couple left on a wedding trip to Bermuda.

Dinner For Bridal Party.

New Paltz, Oct. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartlett were hosts at a dinner to the bridal party Friday night, October 13, at the Morrison restaurant, Poughkeepsie, of their daughter, Margaret Janet Bartlett, who became the bride of Walter A. Cartwright of Boston, Mass. Saturday, October 14. The bride is a descendant on her mother's side of Abraham Hasbrouck, who came to America in 1675 and who was one of the 12 patentees who founded New Paltz, and on her father's side she is descended from Robert Bartlett, who landed in Plymouth in 1623.

A Kitchen Shower.

Friday when Miss Carmel Naccarato returned from a ride with Mrs. Molly Fay to her work in the Kingston Dress Manufacturing Company on Greenkill avenue, she found a prettily decorated table awaiting her. The girls had given her a kitchen shower in honor of her approaching marriage. She received many useful gifts for her kitchen, nearly everything in green. Those present were Mr. Katz, Mary Sottile, Molly Fay, Juanita Ellsworth, Eliza Mayr, L. Lindhurst, Dotty Briody, Alma Kolts, Frances Kolts, Pearl Ellsworth, Maud Van Valkenburg, Marie Keegan, Delia Boss, Rose Havlin, M. Germond, M. Orangeade and cake were served.

Clements-Jacobs

A quiet wedding took place in the Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties Saturday morning, when Marie E. Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Jacobs of West Bridge street, Saugerties, became the bride of Maurice L. Clements, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clements of Elm street, Saugerties. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. W. F. Hersh. The bride was attended by Miss Beatrice S. Powley of Kingston, and the groom's best man was Alfred Relyea of Kingston. Only the immediate members of the family witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Clements left by car after the ceremony to spend their honeymoon, going west. On their return they will reside on Livingston street, Saugerties. Both are well and popularly known in Saugerties, the bride being active as Camp Fire Girls guardian for Maypeeyah group, and in other social activities. She is also an S. H. S. graduate. Mr. clements is employed in the Saugerties office of the Prudential Insurance Co. A host of friends will wish for the newlyweds a happy wedded life.

About the Folks

Dr. and Mrs. L. G. Rymph of Bloomington left today for a two months vacation.

FURTHER ADJOURNMENT IN RATE CASE HERE

For the fourth time since it was launched a court test of the Public Service Commission's authority to reduce electric rates in New York city and Westchester county was delayed when Supreme Court Justice Sidney Foster adjourned an injunction hearing until October 26, in Supreme Court this morning.

More than 5,000 petunia beds were planted this summer in Lansing, Mich., in a city beautification campaign, it is estimated.

CHEVROLETS KEPT SAFE LAST WINTER

Thousands of Chevrolets went through last winter without freezing—with rust-free cooling-systems as clean as a whistle. They were protected by Eveready Prestone—and their owners found it the cheapest all-winter anti-freeze.

Today, Eveready Prestone is down to $2.95 a gallon, instead of $4.45. But the quality is the same. This means that your Chevrolet can be protected to zero for $2.95. For other makes, see your dealer's chart. You buy safe, all-winter protection against freezing and rust—25,000 miles and upwards.

Put in Eveready Prestone before the freeze. It won't boil away or heat up your motor.

Eveready Prestone is approved by all car manufacturers, including Chevrolet. Fully guaranteed by National Carbon Co., Inc., New York, N. Y.

*20-year records show you may expect freezing weather in Kingston by October 25. Be ready. Have Eveready Prestone put in now.

Local Death Record

New Paltz, Oct. 16.—Wednesday, October 4, Chester DuBois, 78, died in Utica. Mr. DuBois was born in the old DuBois house in New Paltz March 8, 1855, the son of Luther and Fannie DuBois. He was a direct descendant of the French Huguenots and of Louis DuBois. He is survived by his wife, who was Mary J. Roberts, two daughters, the Misses Edna and Ora DuBois of Utica, a nephew, Kenneth DuBois, of New Paltz, and a niece, Grace DuBois Whitcomb, of Ilion, N. Y.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Jane Van Demark was held from her late home in High Falls this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment was in High Falls Cemetery. Surviving are four sons, LeRoy, Ernest and Clyde of High Falls, and Harry, of New Paltz; one daughter, Mrs. Anna C. Yeaple, of Middletown; five grandchildren, three brothers, Abram Quick of High Falls, Edward of Atwood, and George of Poughkeepsie; two sisters, Mrs. K. Nelson of Jackson Heights, L. I., and Mrs. C. E. Johnston of Poughkeepsie, also several nieces and nephews.

The funeral of Mrs. John Rask, who died at the Kingston Hospital on Tuesday, was held from her late residence Friday morning at 9:30 and at All Saints' Church, Rosendale, at 10 o'clock, where services were conducted by the Rev. Walter J. Gratton, pastor of the church. The attendance was very large, the church being completely filled. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The Rev. Mr. Gratton accompanied the large funeral cartege to Rosendale Plains Cemetery and conducted the committal service at the grave. The bearers were Anthony and John Kline, Fred Yunker, John Duffy, Herbert Solers and John Regan.

The funeral of Mrs. Anna J. McCullough was held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from her late home, 98 Spring street. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends who listened to the Rev. James N. Armstrong, pastor of Rondout Presbyterian Church, as he conducted a very simple but consoling service. A very large and beautiful display of fall flowers was banked about the casket, a silent testimony of the love and esteem in which she was held by a great number of relatives, friends and neighbors. The bearers were Irving Scott, William Kingman, John Donaldson, William J. Hutton, Fred Van Deusen and William McCullough. The interment was made in the family plot in Montrepose Cemetery, where the committal service was read by the Rev. Mr. Armstrong as the body was lowered to its final resting place.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary D. Snyder, one of Rosendale's oldest and most highly respected residents, who died at her home in Rosendale Wednesday morning from the effects of a fall sustained Tuesday evening, was held at her residence Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and was largely attended by her many friends. The services were conducted by the Rev. C. V. W. Bedford, pastor of the Rosendale Reformed Church of which the deceased had been a devout and faithful member all her life and the Rev. Ansen Coutant of Tillson, a lifelong friend of Mrs. Snyder. Both paid tribute to the wonderful Christian and charitable life which the deceased had lived. The casket was completely banked with beautiful floral offerings. Interment was in Rosendale Plains Cemetery when the Rev. Mr. Bedford and the Rev. Mr. Coutant conducted the committal services as the remains were laid to rest in the family plot. The bearers were William Hermance, Ralph H. LeFever, Rutzer TenHagen, Dimmick Christian, Emzy Lewis and Warren Sammons.

Wets Shokan, Oct. 16.—The funeral of Mrs. Anna C. Dumond, held at her home Friday afternoon in Olive Bridge, was largely attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. Thomas S. Braithwaite of Shokan, who delivered the eulogy. By request, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Abide With Me", were sung by Mrs. Viola Sahler and Elwyn Davis. Many beautiful floral tokens gave evidence of the esteem in which Mrs. Dumond was held by all who knew her. For the past 34 years Dr. and Mrs. Dumond have been reisdents of the town of Olive, first residing in West Shokan, where he took over the extensive rural practice of Dr. George Van Gasbeck. Since 1919 they have lived on their farm in Olive Bridge, purchased at that time. For five years previous their home was in the new village of Ashokan where they owned a fine residence. Mrs. Dumond's death followed a long illness, occurring one day short of her 69th birthday, which fell October 11. Last May the couple celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Dumond was a well known church worker in the communities where she resided. Both have been members of the West Shokan Baptist Church throughout their residence in the town, transferring their membership from Kingston. Many attending her funeral were neighbors and friends of pre-reservoir days, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Mathews of Kingston, Mrs. Cora Boice of Virginia, Mrs. Grace Winnie of Kingston, Dr. Urban B. Kemble of Sullivan county, Mrs. Lester Bell of Phoenicia, Mrs. Viola Sahler of Olive Bridge, and others. The interment was in the nearby family plot in Tongore cemetery.

High Falls Rag Bee.

The all-day rag bee in the basement of the Reformed Church at High Falls will be held on Friday, October 20, instead of on the 13th, as stated in the High Falls news.

Seriously Injured When Struck by Auto

Harry Raynolds, aged about 60, who is employed on the Modica farm at Sawkill, lies in the Kingston Hospital in a very serious condition, with a possible fracture of the skull, concussion of the brain and other injuries.

Reynolds was struck by a Chrysler sedan driven by Sumner Olmstead of Highmount, who was going toward Kingston. Reynolds was walking along the road in the same direction. The accident happened about 11 o'clock Sunday evening, near the junction of Route 28 and the Sawkill road.

Olmstead told Trooper Reilly, who made an investigation, that he was blinded by lights from approaching cars and did not see Reynolds until the latter was directly in front of him. He immediately stopped his car and sent in a call for the Conner ambulance, but before its arrival the injured man was picked up and taken to the Kingston Hospital by Sidney Roberts of Kingston.

Burned to Death.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—A man believed to be Anthony Balaski, 56 Chapel street, Hudson, was burned to death in an automobile which crashed into a tree on the Albany Post road in front of the Hyde Park home of President Roosevelt early today. The body was so badly burned that it was unrecognizable. The license on the machine had been issued to Balaski, but not for the car figuring in the accident.

BICYCLE DANGERS.

The satisfaction a good many people feel about the return of the bicycle is largely sentimental. Recalling the pleasure they got out of it in their youth, they are glad to see children nowadays have the same experience. But the experience is far from being the same. Whereas cycling was formerly a pretty safe sport or mode of transportation, it is now extremely dangerous. As far as paving is concerned, opportunities should be better than ever. But the bicycle on the paved road is a sort of marauder. Children, and even grown-ups, are often careless. They are inclined to weave about and drive on both sides of the road, scaring motorists and running into danger themselves. So great is the apparent conflict between autos and cycles that, in spite of the inviting highways, any long trip on a bicycle today is almost unthinkable.

Yet surely it need not be so. Surely there is room on the streets and highways for both forms of transportation. And pedalling is a fine, healthful exercise for both sexes and all ages. It demands, though, either more definite rules of the road for cyclists or separate paved strips for them. They will either have to be regulated or kept by themselves. They would doubtless prefer the latter. And our superhighways of the future may make provision for them.

DEMAND FOR POCKETS.

Ready-made pockets, says an observant reporter, have been on the market about a year. When mother has to mend worn-out trousers pocket for son or husband, she does not have to fashion one out of a piece of cloth. She can buy the ready-made article and insert it in the proper place.

But that is not the important part of the story. The same reporter states, as a result of a little personal investigating, that the pockets counter is exceedingly busy, that pockets are so much in demand that it is hard to keep them in stock. Sometimes a customer has to be told that there are none just now but a new supply will be in any time. The reporter sets this down as one of the surest signs of business improvement that it has been his happy lot to see. When men have nothing much to carry in their pockets, he points out, it doesn't matter if the pockets have holes in them or are in rags. But when loose change grows common again, a strong and whole pocket becomes essential.

Of course, it might be meanly suggested that the strong demand for pockets merely indicates that a lot more suits have suddenly reached the pocketless stage of disintegration and that, until their owners can get new suits, they will have to be content with mere new pockets. It is pleasanter, however, to accept the optimistic reporter's view of the matter. Let there be more and better pockets.

NEXT—MRA.

The demand for new building activity grows more insistent, as the result of a study made by the NRA research and planning division. The experts conclude that not more than 5 per cent of normal building activity can be expected before 1937, unless something novel and radical is done by the federal government to promote a building boom immediately.

Several methods are suggested: A more liberal policy in federal home loans; elimination of slums by prohibitive taxation on slum dwellings and active help for rebuilding; arbitrary lowering of building material prices for a year; a legal curb on real estate promotion; voluntary pay reductions by building trades labor unions. But the most interesting suggestion is this: Start a movement, through propaganda and financial aid, to promote matrimony. More marriages are wanted especially among young people. Such campaigns have been conducted in some foreign countries since the war.

The big idea is to get the young birds out of the parental nest, starting nests of their own. There would be great possibilities in such a building wave, plus the wave of orders for new household equipment, if the boys and girls agreed and got enough help to make it possible. The birth rate might pick up, too, with more consumers coming along to use up farm and factory surplus. Why not a twin for NRA—a Matrimonial Recovery Administration?

TAX DRIVES.

To the "drives" for community funds and other public purposes is added now the "tax payment drive". Communities here and there are taking it up this fall with much of the fervor that used to be thrown into more popular causes. People cannot be brought together in great numbers for pep talks about paying their taxes, but press, radio and pulpit are used to advantage.

Something like this is necessary. The tax crisis is becoming as widespread and serious as the unemployment crisis, the bank crisis or any other feature of our many-sided business collapse. Public expenditure becomes more essential all the time, yet public treasuries tend more and more to run dry. They must be filled somehow, if one side of our economic system is not to break down while the other side is building up. Communities lean on the federal government, but its resources are not inexhaustible. National solvency goes back to local solvency. Somehow or other, local treasuries must be replenished. They could be in most localities—not to their normal level, but enough to carry them through the crisis—if all those who are able to pay their taxes, by some reason or other, would do so. Nothing will help the ordinary community more than joint effort to this end.

SIX BOYS RETURN FROM THORNE-LOOMIS TOUR

This past Tuesday the six Kingston boys who were members of the Thorne-Loomis Foundation tour, returned to Kingston after spending six weeks visiting the industrial centers of the middle west and southern states. The local members of the party were Kimbol Pirie, J. Hart Snyder, Charles Pfrommer, Ralph G. Woolsey, Herbert Van Darrow and Robert Lawatsch. In reply to the question, "What was the most interesting part of the trip?", Kimbol Pirie, president of the Kingston Youth Council, replied that it was impossible almost to select one part more interesting than the others, as the whole trip was a wonderful experience and one never to be forgotten. But the primary benefit, he felt, was the education that the group had gained from a first hand contact with big industries and the encouraging and helpful advice they had had from some of the men who had ranked high in industrial life. Then, too, every young man on the tour had been broadened and awakened by the required self discipline which weeks of close companionship had necessitated under many different conditions.

Outrageous Fortune

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: By sheer accident, Caroline had found her cousin, Jim Kendal, whom she had thought drowned. But his memory of past events is destroyed, he has been told by Nesta Riddell that he is her husband, and worse that he has stolen the Van Berg emeralds and also their owner. And his memory shows him flashes of himself drinking with Van Berg—out of the emeralds on Van Berg's bandst Jim cannot disprove Nesta, since he cannot remember his immediate past. So Caroline starts to London to check up on Nesta's marriage, and on the trail hears that glasses are being tested for finger prints by the police. She is frightened.

Chapter 25

SUDDEN DECISION

MRS. Rodgers sank her voice to a sepulchral whisper.

"There was a tray with whisky and soda and two glasses in Mr. Van Berg's study, and the police took 'em for finger-prints. And Mrs. Henry says to me, 'That wasn't no plain straightforward burglar,' she says. 'If a burglar comes in on a gentleman in the middle of the night, they don't sit down and have drinks together—not much they don't,' she says."

"Were the glasses full or empty?" said the shy young man.

"Empty down to the last drop," said Mrs. Rodgers. "And what's more—but there, p'raps I didn't ought to repeat that."

"I'm sure none of us will let it go any further," said the elder Miss Boring.

"Well, I don't know as I'd better, seeing as Mrs. Henry wouldn't ha' told me if it hadn't been for me overhearing what passed between her and Mrs. Van Berg's maid."

Caroline's heart began to beat hard and fast. What was she going to hear? She felt as if at any moment this fat good-natured woman might say something that couldn't ever be unsaid again—something dangerous, something that might hurt Jim.

Everyone was begging Mrs. Rodgers to go on.

"Well, I don't know as I ought. That's the worst of talking—you run on, and then you can't take it back again. Lor bless me if we haven't got to Meade already!—and perhaps just as well, or I might have said more than I ought. Now, I wonder if anyone 'ud be good enough to hand my basket out after me. It's a deal easier to get out backwards when you come to my size."

The train jerked and clanked to a standstill. The shy young man opened the door. Mrs. Rodgers backed out, took her basket, and bade the carriage at large an affable farewell.

WITHOUT having thought of it beforehand, Caroline found herself saying, "Please may I pass?" She had to say that because the schoolboy was standing right in the doorway. He moved as the guard came along to shut the door.

Caroline said in a soft breathless voice, "I'm getting out," and jumped down on to the platform just as the train began to move. She didn't wait for the guard to scold her.

Mrs. Rodgers was already giving up her ticket. Caroline ran after her and caught her up just outside the station where Meade Hill runs steeply up between hedges full of bramble and elder.

Mrs. Rodgers stared at her in astonishment, and Caroline realized that she had no idea what she was going to say. It must have come over her suddenly that she simply couldn't let Mrs. Rodgers go, and now that she had caught her up she said the first thing that came into her head.

"Can I help you with your basket?"

Mrs. Rodgers looked her up and down.

"What's a young lady like you want to carry my basket for?"

"I'm going your way."

"And how do you know what way I'm going, miss?"

Caroline looked rather as if she had been caught stealing jam. Her lips trembled into a smile.

"I r-ran after you," she said.

Mrs. Rodgers set down her basket in the road and nodded.

"Honesty's the best policy. What brought you after me? For by the look of you you hadn't any thoughts of getting out here."

"No," said Caroline, "I should truly like to carry your basket." She picked it up, and they began to mount the hill.

"And that's what you came after me for, I'll be bound!"

"No—I came after you because I wanted to talk to you."

"That's straight anyway. And what have you got to say?"

"I didn't want to say anything. I wanted you to tell me what Mrs. Henry told you."

MRS. Rodgers swung her ample black skirts in silence. They just cleared the dust of the road. Her color deepened as she climbed.

"Mrs. Rodgers—"

Mrs. Rodgers turned a streaming crimson face upon her.

"Talk on this 'ill, I can't," she panted, and Caroline had to get what comfort she could from that.

At the top of the hill there was a stile, and on the step of the stile Mrs. Rodgers seated herself and proceeded to get her breath. Caroline stood before her with the basket and felt her courage slip and slip away.

"Well?" said Mrs. Rodgers at last.

Caroline looked at her imploringly.

"I'm going your way," Caroline said.

"Well, since we're 'ere, we'd best have it out."

Caroline spoke before all her courage left her.

"Will you please tell me what Mrs. Henry said?"

"And why?"

"I thought I'd like to know," said Caroline rather faintly.

"And why?" said Mrs. Rodgers in an even slower and more portentous manner.

Caroline began to speak quickly.

"You were telling us as the train stopped, and I—I wanted to know. You were telling everyone in the carriage."

Mrs. Rodgers nodded.

"What's taken light can be told light. 'Twasn't nothing to them, no more than it wasn't to me. Stands to reason everybody'll talk about a murder—and this is as good as one by all accounts."

"Then won't you tell me?"

"I dunno," said Mrs. Rodgers. She pursed her lips together and cast an odd look at Caroline. "Do you know where I'm going?" she said with apparent irrelevance. "No, I don't suppose you do. Well, I'm walking across the fields by this here footpath to Stowbury to spend the day with my sister, Harriet Brown, that used to be Harriet Welsh."

Caroline's color changed sharply. She had the horrible sensation of having walked into a trap.

PARENTS' DAY PLANS ANNOUNCED AT MANLIUS

Manlius, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The annual Parents' Day at the Manlius School will be observed Saturday, October 28, Col. Guido F. Verbeck, head master, has announced. Parents of Manlius students and their friends will be guests of Colonel and Mrs. Verbeck.

Colonel Verbeck has invited parents of students to visit classes at the school before noon on Saturday and the program arranged for the afternoon includes a review by the Manlius School Battalion, R. O. T. C., at 12:15 o'clock; a luncheon at the home of Colonel and Mrs. Verbeck at 12:30 o'clock, and the Manlius-Cortland Normal School football game at 2:30 o'clock.

Parents Day has become a traditional event at Manlius and each year finds the parents of many students at the school as guests of Colonel and Mrs. Verbeck.

Second Ward Meeting.

A meeting of the Second Ward Democratic Club will be held this Wednesday evening, October 18, instead of as originally stated, Tuesday evening, October 17, at the Democratic Headquarters, 672 Broadway. The principal speaker of the evening will be E. Frank Flanagan, candidate for mayor. Others will be Sam N. Mann, Bernard A. Culloton, and William B. Martin. Several acts of entertainment have been procured, as an added feature to the program. The ladies and gentlemen of the entire ward are invited to be present.

The steamer J. F. Schoellkopf, Jr., 542 feet long, is the largest self-unloading boat on the Great Lakes.

STROKES OF GENIUS

by SAMUEL HOPKINS & ALFRED PARKER

IN "I Pagliacci," Leoncavallo told the story of an actual occurrence that he heard in his father's courtroom when he was a boy! It is the tale of a jealous husband, a clown, who discovers that his wife has been deceiving him. Overcome by grief and shame, he slays her and her rustic lover while his company of strolling players is performing a harmless little comedy before a village audience.

The famous aria "Laugh, Clown!" comes at the end of the first act of the opera. The infuriated clown bemoans the fate that makes him go on laughing and amusing the public while his heart is breaking!

Ruggiero Leoncavallo was the son of an Italian magistrate. At 18, he was left penniless in Bologna. To keep from starvation, he became a café piano player—an occupation that carried him all over Europe and even into Egypt! His short dramatic piece, "I Pagliacci," was first produced on May 21, 1892 in Milan. An immediate and overwhelming success, its popularity continues undiminished after 40 years!

THAT BODY OF YOURS

TRAFFIC OFFENDERS.

At the present time all that the law requires before granting you a license to drive a motor car is that you have good eyesight, normally or with aid of glasses, and that you know how to drive.

When violations of the law occur all that is discussed is whether there should be a fine or imprisonment or both.

It occurred to the physicians and their assistants in charge of the mental cases coming before the Recorders Court, Detroit, Michigan, that it might be well to investigate the mental ability of 100 English speaking male offenders against the traffic laws. Of the 100 cases about 90 cases were for speeding, driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, car not under control, driving to left of street car, leaving scene of accident. The other 10 were failing to stop at stop street, improper turn, wrong parking, and other minor offences.

These traffic offenders were investigated from all angles—age, married or single, length of time they had been driving, owner or employe, previous traffic offences, intelligence test, and alcohol.

What were the findings from the mental standpoint?

The most striking of the findings for the entire series may be listed as follows:

12 were definitely feeble minded.
42 were classifiable as of inferior intelligence.
1 was insane.
1 showed an active tendency to epilepsy.
3 were handicapped physically.
7 had defects in hearing.
14 had defects of vision.
4 had varying degrees of color blindness.

Now this is only one group in one large city, and other places may show a better or worse record, but nevertheless it is worth our serious thought. It shows that a fairly large percentage of the traffic violators who actually come to court are hardly to be considered competent or safe drivers. Further, it is only fair to say that a certain percentage of the driving public who do not come to court is also not competent or safe.

Therefore these workers recommend that there should be a stricter examination of the mental and personality equipment of the driver before he is given a license.

I believe the above findings will be of interest, and the recommendations will find favor with all thinking motorists.

Studebaker Exhibits New Models for 1934 at Van Motor Company

The new 1934 Studebaker motor cars, sensationally priced and just as sensational in their new skyway styling and speedway stamina, are now on exhibition at the show rooms of the Van Motor Company, 529 Broadway. The public is invited to come and inspect the new models and look over Studebaker's contribution to the "new deal" in motoring.

Motorists who inspect the new cars will be impressed by three distinctive features, the low prices, their ultra-modern skyway styling and the ensemble of devices and designs which make for safety, ease of handling and long and quiet operation.

The prices of the new Studebaker begin at $645 for Dictator models. Commander prices range from $845 and the President group from $1,045. The lowest Studebaker price on previous models was $845.

Studebaker body designers have gone a long way in reducing wind resistance and adapting the flowing symmetrical lines of present day aircraft to the new models. Radiators, fenders, windshields and body sections have been sloped and "faired" to permit smoother passage of air currents.

Interiors are roomier, seats are wider, leg room more abundant and headroom has been increased even though bodies are lower. The Dictator sedans have a front seat 50 inches wide.

The bodies are equipped with a distinctly new method of ventilation. The front windows have been provided with ventilating vanes which are integral with the windows. These vanes are adjustable to scoop air into the bodies or create a venturi effect which will draw off stale air or smoke. The entire front window may be rolled down. Rear windows are also adjustable to accomplish complete ventilation without draft. Flush-type cowl ventilators are also provided as well as an adjustable windshield of safety glass.

Another feature for safe night driving is the new six position head lamps. The head lamps are adjustable to three different levels through a toggle switch and a toe-button on the floorboard which permits the beam to be thrown to the right of the road in passing on-coming cars.

Studebaker engineers have gone a long way ahead and adopted on Commander and President models a box frame which has four sides welded into one long, strong box of steel. This coupled with X-cross member in the center and heavy tubular members in front give a frame of extreme rigidity.

Bodies are of steel and are unit welded.

Into the interior of the cars have been put luxury and comfort. A choice of rich mohair velvet or broadcloth upholstery is provided and the cushions are of the form fitting type. The front seat is adjustable. A new type of interior top covering on the closed models give a delightful dome effect. Rear seats have arm rests and the fittings of the cars are complete. A very attractive instrument panel is provided with a package compartment at the right and to the left a compartment for radio. All closed bodies are wired for radio.

Dictator models have 88 horsepower, the Commanders deliver 103 horsepower and the President 120 horsepower. Motors are anchored in live rubber at all four points of suspension. Lubrication is full force feed to all main bearings, connecting rods and camshaft bearings. Mufflers are also mounted in rubber to give quiet operation.

Many automatic features are to be found in the cars, such as automatic switch-key starting, automatic choke, a fast and slow carburetor idle for warming up anti-back fire device; free wheeling and power brakes on larger models are standard equipment.

There are five models in the Dictator group, five in the Commander group and four in the President group. All models are equipped with steel spoke artillery wheels and are offered either with regular or regal equipment. Regal equipment includes six steel spoke artillery wheels, the spares being mounted in fender wells.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON — General Johnson's statement that the NRA is about to enter that period wherein a permanent set-up for business under the code plan is to be established bears out the belief held from the start by many close observers of the administration program.

It has been the contention of this group that those parts of the NRA found workable would not be discarded at the end of the two-year trial period prescribed by congress in passing the recovery act.

It was inevitable, they argued, that if the codification of the various industries proved successful it would have become so interlocked with ordinary commercial activities at the end of the authorized period that it would be almost impossible to discard it.

General Johnson now confirms this. When asked if this long range plan had been under consideration for long, he replied:

"We've been building up to it ever since we started."

Advance Indications

FROM the middle of August, when Prof. William F. Ogburn resigned as a member of the consumers' board of the NRA, the belief has grown that the Blue Eagle was destined for more than a temporary flight. Ogburn's explanation of his resignation indicated the end.

". . . The emergency nature of this act," he said in part, "must give way to a long-time set-up. . . ."

A few weeks later Dudley Cates resigned as assistant administrator, and as he left he said:

"The underlying purpose of NRA is to create a balanced economy in the United States, which necessarily must consist of a proper balance in each trade or industry between the economic rights of capital properly invested, the social rights of labor productively employed, and the rights of the consuming public to protection against monopoly prices."

A Permanent Set-Up

THE next step may be that a planning group — perhaps another "brain trust"—will formulate and transmit to congress those parts of NRA which have proved their value.

Unless all signs fail, the task would be completed only after the various recovery measures have been tested in the courts and either upheld or thrown down.

This takes time, despite the fact the period in which we now are passing has been declared one of national emergency.

How far the supreme court may go in either direction is something no one will predict. Any permanent set-up, however, would await that tribunal's decision.

NO "B.O." NOW — thanks to Mother and Lifebuoy!

I LOVE THE WAY IT FRESHENS AND SOOTHES MY SKIN

WOMEN who really measure their complexions rave about Lifebuoy. And you can't blame them! For Lifebuoy's bland, soothing lather stops almost instantly the growth of impurities that dull and cloud the complexion. It freshens skins—brings clear, healthy radiance. The secret of complexion charm!

"B. O."—our common enemy

Public enemy number one—that's "B.O." (body odor)! It threatens the happiness, the security of every one of us. For we all perspire at least a quart daily. Play safe—bathe regularly with Lifebuoy. You can tell by its extra-clean, quickly-vanishing scent that Lifebuoy lather purifies and deodorizes pores—removes all trace of "B.O."

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO PLAY CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF!

DENSMORE SHUTE—Britons gasped and gasped when he won the 1933 British Open over St. Andrews' deceptive fairways and angry bunkers. Golf prophets say Shute will line up with Golf Immortals. Answering a question, Shute recently said: "I have tried all the brands, and long ago found that Camels are milder, and what is even more important to any golfer, they do not jangle the nerves."

TOMMY ARMOUR—Often called "Wizard of the Irons," Armour has won a flock of championships, including the U. S. Open in 1927, the P. G. A. in 1930, the British Open in 1931. Tommy knows his golf and his cigarettes. "What do I think of Camels? They are my brand and have been for years. I smoke a lot but I must be sure that my nerves are healthy and my head is clear—that's why I prefer Camels."

GENE SARAZEN—This great golfer began his winning ways in 1922 when he became U. S. Open Champion. He has been a consistent tournament winner ever since. This year he won his third P. G. A. Championship. On the subject of cigarettes Sarazen says: "I agree with Shute and Armour—I smoke Camels, too. They always taste good—and they never interfere with my nerve control."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

Men and women whose work and play demand healthy nerves and level heads prefer Camels. Active people agree that they can smoke these fine-flavored, milder cigarettes without fear of jangling their nerves.

Another thing about active people—they are pretty generally steady smokers . . . And, as anyone who smokes Camels will tell you, you can smoke as many of these cigarettes as you want—and never have a "cigaretty" aftertaste. The last cigarette at night tastes as good as the first in the morning, if you smoke Camels.

Try a package of Camels today . . . Enjoy the superior flavor of their costlier tobaccos. If you are a steady smoker you will appreciate the fact that Camels never get on your nerves, never tire your taste.

HE: Nice drive! Have a Camel. They're milder, you know.

SHE: Thanks, I will! I've smoked them for years. I know they taste better. And it is the one cigarette that never gets on my nerves.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. You will find Camels rich in flavor and delightfully mild.

The newspapers relate an incident that recently happened at Gibsonville, N. C. It concerns a negro preacher who had successfully concealed the fact that he had served a term in prison, but long years of upright living had not destroyed his fear of exposure.

One Sunday, on rising to begin his sermon, his heart sank on seeing his former cellmate in one of the very front seats.

Very quick thinking was necessary. He fixed his eye on the stranger and delivered himself slowly and impressively as follows:

"Ah takes mah text dis mo'nin' from the sixty-fo' chapter and de fo' hundreth verse ob de Gospel ob St. John, which says, 'Dem as sees me, a' known me an' says nothin', dem will Ah see later'."

Marriage A La Hollywood

Today I am a blushing bride,
The wedding bells are ringing,
And oh, I am so much in love,
The world for me is singing.

I am a bride again today,
But not with so much blush,
My other marriage ended,
Divorce came with a rush.

The third time now I am a bride,
And blushing not at all,
It's just become a habit and
The thing begins to pall.

A canny Scot telegraphed a proposal of marriage to his sweetheart back in the country. After waiting all day at the telegraph office for his reply, he received an affirmative answer late at night.

"Well, if I were you," said the telegraph operator who delivered the message, "I'd think twice before I married a girl who kept me waiting so long for an answer.

"Na, na," he replied. "The lass for me is the lass who waits for the night rates."

Reading Delayed

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

The child who learns to read late or against his will often remains a poor and slow reader throughout, and is unlikely ever to attain the magic of the world of books.

The reasons for this are not far to seek. For one thing, school readers are not and cannot be adjusted to older children. They are hard enough to make interesting for very little ones, and the child of 8 or 10 who tried to learn from them would soon be bored with all reading by such an introduction. And once having formed a distaste for reading, he would have raised a very real difficulty to be overcome within himself.

Again, reading is a habit, and the earlier it is started the more chance there is of its forming. No one wishes a child to become a bookworm, for the child who is soon runs the danger of neglecting life for another world. In time he comes to use books as an escape, and avoids the pressure of reality, by hiding in the more congenial world of imagination.

But reading in moderation is of great value, and will not only pass many otherwise boring moments, but also bring the child into touch with a wider range of thought and experience than he can possibly meet in life.

The child who early forms the habit of reading is never likely to be found hanging about and whining that there is nothing to do. He is fortified within himself against loneliness.

If reading has been delayed too long, say to 10 years, he has become accustomed to seek his amusement either with other children or in some kind of activity, and is lost if he cannot have them. Then reading, instead of being natural, rather becomes a foreign tongue.

SHANDAKEN.

Shandaken, Oct. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Brown were among the Kingston visitors Thursday.

F. M. Cleaveland was taken to the Margaretville Hospital Friday.

Sprucewood, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wood, has recently been covered with a new roof, which adds to its attractiveness. Their cabin was also re-roofed. Ralph Yerry, with the assistance of his father, Gordon Yerry, did the work.

Mrs. Ell Miller was taken to the Margaretville Hospital on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cleaveland and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wood were Oliverea callers Sunday.

Fred Rosa and family visited Margaretville on Wednesday.

The following were guests at Mrs. Rose Griffin's boarding house in the west end of the village the past week: William Burke and Jack Hanlon of the Bronx, New York city; Edward Ward, the Misses Edna McNally, May Shanahan and Beatrice Dougherty of Brooklyn and Mr. and Mrs. John Leahy and son, Dennis, of the Bronx, New York city.

Low Prices for Cattle at Sale

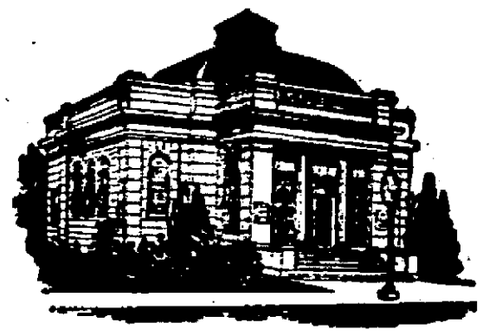

The average price of forty-one cows and young bulls at the fifth Ulster County Holstein Club sale on Friday was only $79.18. This is the lowest average since the sales were started in 1930. The highest price paid was $150. Nine calves were donated by members of the club to help defray the expense of sending the county herd to the state fair in September. The calves brought in a total of $108.50.

A total of fifty-one animals were sold to buyers from Dutchess, Orange, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester counties.

LIQUOR CONTROL— As Others Do It

No. 2—Finland Tries State Monopoly Plan After Prohibition Repeal.

Possibility of the repeal of national prohibition in the United States has directed attention to various liquor control plans abroad. This, the second of four articles concerning them, deals with Finland.

Helsingfors, Finland (AP).—Finland, plagued by liquor smuggling during its experience with national prohibition, finds this illegal traffic has its worst problem in a new era.

Legal trade in liquor grew by leaps and bounds in the long years of prohibition. It suddenly collapsed when prohibition was repealed April 5, 1932, only to rear its head again.

Finland's legal alcohol trade is centered in a monopoly company, in which the state has absolute control. It has the sole right to manufacture alcohol, which it sells at retail in its own stores.

Can License Premises

It has also the sole right to carry on trade in liquor for consumption on the premises, though it can grant this to private restaurants. Likewise it can grant rights of manufacture to private firms.

In every communality there is an inspector appointed for supervising the traffic in alcohol, and some places have temperance boards.

Intoxicants are allowed to be sold retail freely, except to minors, to soldiers unless they have permits from their officers, or to intoxicated individuals or non-intoxicated persons in their company.

No Personal Limitation

Personal limitation, one of the essential points in the Swedish law, is not contained in the Finnish legislation.

The alcohol company may grant serving licenses to individuals, companies or cooperative societies for any kind of intoxicants, the advisory board deciding the terms and conditions of serving.

To prevent competition for private profit, intoxicants may only be sold in licensed premises at prices fixed by the advisory board.

After a test of prohibition, Finland instituted a system of liquor regulation allowing its manufacture and sale by a state-controlled monopoly. Here customers are shown waiting in line for their liquor supply from one of the licensed stores.

In rural districts, retail of intoxicants is forbidden, as is the serving, though so-called exceptional licenses may be granted.

Home manufacture of malt liquors and fermented berry wines is permitted, for home consumption.

Selling Places Decrease

Although the population of the country has grown since 1910 by about 17 per cent and the sale of intoxicants is now allowed in townships, the number of places for selling total one-quarter of the number in 1910.

Consumption before prohibition averaged 1.31 liters of pure alcohol per capita per year, while last year, after the end of prohibition, the average was 0.72 liters.

Because of illicit sales and smuggling, however, it is conceded that the latter average does not represent the actual consumption.

Analyzed as to the consumption of kinds of liquors, the company's figures show corn-brandy represents 74 per cent of the total, other strong drinks form 16 per cent, malt liquors (reduced to pure alcohol) 7 per cent, and wines only 3 per cent.

Nearly All Domestic

The importance of the new alcohol legislation from the domestic economic point of view is indicated by the fact that home production accounts for 86 per cent of total sales.

Even wine, which was almost wholly imported last year, may advance in domestic industry as tasty liquors have been produced from berries.

Crime statistics of the ministry of justice show cases of drunkenness have fallen off by 11 per cent as compared with the last year of prohibition while actions in such cases have decreased 25 per cent.

The net financial surplus of the alcohol company for the last nine months of last year amounted to 102,000,000 Finnish marks ($2,040,000 at par). The import on alcohol brought in 50,000,000 additional marks ($1,000,000), while the manufacturers' tax amounted to more than 20,000,000 marks.

Telling Willy Nilly

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

No one knew whether the little Chickens had perished in the rain storm.

"We didn't think we could help them. The little Pigeons said and we became so interested in our swimming lesson after our sleep that we forgot about them. We thought, too, that when daylight came they would be able to get back as the Bears would surely appear by that time to help. You see Jelly and Honey Bear left us to continue our nature class by ourselves."

"Excuses!" cried Top Notch. "You're heartless and cruel. The Chickens' parents are beside themselves with worry. They are crying their rooster and hen eyes out, sobbing that their soft, adorable little Chicks are lost forever!"

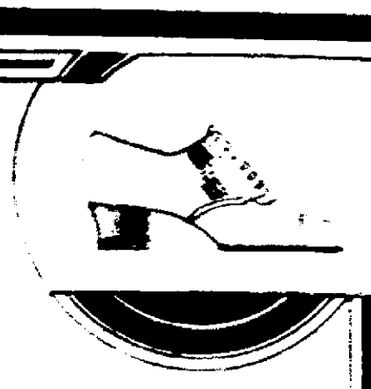

"They were thoughtless but they didn't mean to be cruel," said Christopher Columbus Crow. "They were too worried about themselves and forgot even to mention the Chickens to me. But I remember where I found the Ducks. The Chickens must be near there. I'll get Willy Nilly and show him the way. Cheer better come, too, Rip."

"The little Chickens never came home from the nature class!" Christopher cawed as he reached Willy Nilly's. The little gnome-like man had been putting away food for the winter. He had filled a whole pantry full of good things and was rejoicing in the work he was accomplishing, although he had not nearly finished.

When he heard about the Chickens the tears began to stream down from his eyes. "I'm afraid these cold autumn nights will have proved too much for them," he said mournfully.

Religion Enters N.Y.C. Politics

New York, Oct. 16 (AP).—The question of anti-Semitism stirred the three-cornered struggle for the mayoralty to something approaching frenzy today.

Joseph V. McKee, accused of criticizing the ethics of Jewish school children in an article written in 1915, denied it and struck back at his Fusion opponent, Fiorello H. LaGuardia.

"Mr. LaGuardia," said McKee, "has deliberately, viciously and for self gain brought the religious question into this campaign by misinterpreting the intent and spirit of a single paragraph in an article written almost twenty years ago."

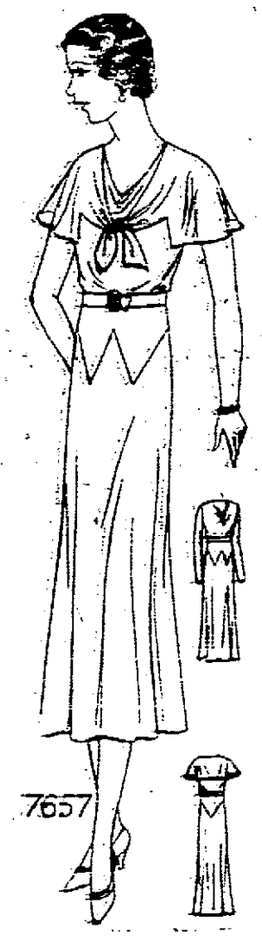

His denial that any attack on Jews "was made or intended" followed a demand by Samuel Untermyer, lawyer, that McKee, the Recovery party candidate for mayor, explain.

Untermyer said that if published reports of the article, written while McKee was a teacher, were correct, they constituted a "false, distorted and gross libel."

Nathan Straus, Jr., Recovery party candidate for aldermanic president and himself a Jew, said there is no man in the country "more completely free from racial or religious intolerance" than McKee.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Charming Model

7657. Simplicity makes this little frock distinctive. It may be finished with sleeves, as in the small front view, or without sleeves and with the capelet, now so very popular, as shown in the large view. The skirt is cut to flare slightly and is mounted on yoke sections cut in shaped outline. The neck is in cowl effect. Crepe satin, taffeta, or light weight woolen plain or in a mesh pattern is suggested for this frock.

Designed in 6 sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 (with corresponding bust measure 32, 34, 36, 38,) also in 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 20 if made as in the large view will require 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material. With sleeves and without capelet as in the small view it will require 3 2-3 yards. The capelet in contrasting material will require 1 yard of 39 inch width. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is 2¼ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Arcturus

Arcturus is some sun. It is 200 times as bright as our little sun which you complain so much about when you have to work out in it. The astronomers' name for Arcturus is "Alpha Bootes." "Alpha" (A in the Greek alphabet!) means that it is the brightest star in the constellation of Bootes. "Bootes" means the Bear Hunter. Bootes, in the ancient mythology, was supposed to be chasing the Great Bear around the pole, with his hunting dog.—Answers Magazine.

ARDONIA

Ardonia, Oct. 16—The Girl Scouts held a meeting at their club house, Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Hilda Smith was a supper guest of Miss Marguerite Smith Tuesday evening.

The local school was closed Thursday in observance of Columbus Day.

An Ideal Costume Until Fur Coat Time

A SURE WINNER

New York—A surprising number of women seem to have come to the conclusion that a goodlooking tweed suit is an answer to prayer. Just the ideal garment for everyday wear. Since fur coats are worn by just about everybody, once winter comes, the tweed coat, or coat with skirt, which makes it a suit, is a splendid until-fur-coat-time costume.

Any one who has attended any of the football games so far this fall must know that the younger set have adopted this sort of thing as uniform. Older women also find them the suit they just can't get along without. It's easy to understand why. If the suit is well made, and of excellent material, it is not out of place anywhere excepting where only the most formal clothes are worn, and it is so durable that it stands any sort of hard wear.

"But there is no style to such suits," some fashion-crazed girl may exclaim. That's where they are entirely wrong. It is a great deal simpler to get an inexpensive copy of a very "stylish" coat than it is to duplicate one of the plain-as-a-pipe-stem tweeds.

Besides, accessories are relied upon to supply the fashion interest. To begin and end with, there are scarfs, a necessary accessory, unless one goes in for the fur vest effects which are more or less new and which are certainly the last word in winter comfort.

It is quite possible to buy suits with detachable chamois linings. It is also practical to have chamois or kasha or some such warm fabric lining made so that it may be buttoned into the coat when additional warmth is wanted. A smart fur muff will also add to the smartness of a costume such as shown. It may be worn with a variety of blouses and sweaters, not forgetting that velveteen is one of the best liked blouse materials.

Elegant Fashions and Mature Figures

There is a growing tendency, in the advertising copy of the quality shops, to play up the new importance of the womanly figure in today's fashions. This is being more seriously regarding now than in other seasons.

It is significant to see the mature figure considered from the standpoint of structural lines, while at the same time showing the psychology which makes this type of woman most important when the more formal, elegant fashions of the day are being exploited.

It is a fact that these women can wear with the right dignity and grace rich fabrics and formal lines which often seem inappropriate for girls.

All Advertising Audiences Come From the Newspaper Family

Because whatever else people may see or hear, they all have the daily newspaper reading habit.

EVERY advertiser talks to newspaper readers no matter what method of advertising he employs.

He may use letters or circulars to address his prospective customers.

He may employ advertising signs to catch the eye of those who walk or ride past.

He may broadcast a message to those who listen to the radio.

He may make his appeal through the columns of popular magazines.

But in every case, his advertising goes to habitual newspaper readers—to people who read the papers today and will read them again tomorrow.

Therefore, newspaper advertisers enjoy the unique advantage of reaching all who are reached by any advertising and many more whom only newspapers reach.

This obvious reason for the continued success of newspaper advertising should receive the thoughtful consideration of every merchant and manufacturer. Business is improving—particularly for those willing to look for it.

Newspaper advertising gets to everybody every day -- and gets there FIRST.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Oct. 14—Ralph Reeves of New Jersey, who is spending an autumn vacation at the Chase bungalow colony on Winchell mountain, was a caller in the village Friday morning. Mr. Reeves is the owner of a tract of land near the foot of Tice Tenyck mountain, a short distance north of the R. B. Peck place. The lot is distinguished at a distance by a large grove of pine trees which stand out in bold relief at this time, when the hills back of Shokan are clothed in a coat of many colors. Mr. Reeves expects to build a summer residence on his property.

Charles Green has returned to Boston, Mass., after spending several months at the home of his sister, Mrs. Gabriel Richard.

Earl North of Shokan and Alva Buley of Ashokan are numbered among the half-hundred or more carpenters employed on the new conservation work at the conservation corps camp. Other residents of Olive working on the big job include the following: Raymond Davis, Grover Christiana, Alex Copeland, James V. Gordon, and Robert Mericle.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Giacone are again able to ride out in a car following their automobile accident of several months ago.

Improvement work on the north boulevard between Shokan and Boiceville was temporarily suspended Friday, several of the city's trucks being engaged in hauling another shipment of soda ash from Ashokan and Brown Station.

Apple picking and corn husking are now in order among local farmers. While the yield of corn is fairly satisfactory, the apple crop will not take long to pick in most cases.

October 14, 1869, the annual report of James Ketcham, county superintendent of the poor, showed $94.49 apportioned to the town of Olive as expenses of paupers. Average expenditures for board and clothing at the poor farm, exclusive of produce raised on the county farm, was $38.32 per year, or ten cents and five mills per day for each person boarded there. The children were taught by one of Mr. Ketcham's daughter. Poorhouse property on the county premises inventoried $7,087.51 in 1869.

Mrs. Lulu M. Chase and Mrs. Clement E. Chase are expected at their summer home near here today.

Emmett Canter of the west end is able to get down town again after having been confined to the house two weeks with tonsilitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Bentley are occupying rooms above the postoffice in Boiceville. Mr. Bentley is a state forester stationed at Camp No. 2.

Daniel Sampson has been cutting second growth hay on the old Susan Eichler place for Joseph H. Dewitt of Cool Breeze Farm. The Eichler place is on the city's preserve across the north boulevard from Mr. Dewitt's property.

Beginning Sunday, October 15, the Rev. August Pfaus, pastor of the Shokan and Mt. Tremper Reformed churches, will preach at the latter church each Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. The service in the Shokan church is held at 11 o'clock.

Kenneth Tyler of Boiceville is painting the recently completed storehouse of Leonard Colange.

Thomas Sahlbeck, laboratory assistant for the Department of Water Supply, is flying a brand new copy of Old Glory from the pole at his attractive residence on the north boulevard.

ALLABEN.

Allaben, Oct. 16.—Miss Kathleen L. Brown, an Allaben teacher, had for her guest over the week-end Miss M. Louise Lewis of Bainbridge, N. Y. Miss Brown and Miss Lewis were classmates, having graduated in the class of 1933 from the State Normal School in Oneonta. Miss Brown also entertained Miss Helen Knight of Shandaken at dinner Friday evening. Miss Knight, who is a nurse at the Samaritan Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y., is spending a few days with her parents.

Charles Jacobs, a student of the Allaben School, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Frances Jacobs, of Poughkeepsie.

Joseph Estrado spent the week-end with his parents in New York city.

James Bonner, who is in the Margaretville hospital where he underwent an operation, will return to his home Tuesday.

Daniel Maeben has taken a position in Poughkeepsie.

Charles Owens is enlarging his residence and making other improvements on his home.

At the Methodist Church in Phoenicia Sunday Miss Kathleen Brown rendered in a most pleasing manner a vocal solo, "Going Home", by Anton Dvorak.

Rural Letter Carriers Held Meeting Sunday

The Ulster County Rural Letter Carriers held their regular fall meeting on Sunday afternoon in the American Legion Building on West O'Reilly street, with a goodly number of members and friends in attendance. Beside the Ulster county carriers and their wives there were guests present from Orange, Sullivan and Saratoga counties.

The meeting was called to order by E. J. Ritch, president of the Ulster County Association, and the purpose of the get-together was briefly stated. The president then introduced Roswell P. Barron from Greenfield Center, Saratoga county, past New York state president, as the principal speaker of the day. Mr. Barron talked on the events which transpired at the National Convention held in August at Des Moines, Iowa, which was very interesting to those present. He also dwelt on recent happenings and rulings of the past week at Washington telling about the order signed by President Roosevelt restoring to 3 cents the mileage pay of rural carriers to take effect November 1.

Luther Potts of Jeffersonville, Sullivan county, brought greetings from Sullivan County Association as also Sylvelus of Monticello. Percy Gazlay, vice-president of the Ulster County Association, and a delegate to the state convention held at Utica in July, spoke on his observations at the state meeting, bringing out many points of interest. Mrs. Roswell P. Barron, New York state vice president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was introduced and read an excellently prepared paper on what she gleaned as a delegate from New York state to the Auxiliary at the National Convention at Des Moines, describing her trip by auto from home to Des Moines and returning by way of Chicago where she and Mr. Barron stopped for four days at the Century of Progress before returning home. She urged every wife of a carrier to join the Ladies' Auxiliary and help win the goal we are striving for, widows' annuity. Mrs. Lewis Sinsabaugh of Orange county, who also attended the National Convention in August, spoke briefly endorsing the expressions of Mrs. Barron.

The meeting then adjourned and the local Ladies' Auxiliary taking active charge prepared a luncheon to cap the occasion all of which was enjoyed by those present before departing for their respective homes.

PHOENICIA

The Baptist Ladies' Aid will serve a dinner and supper on Election day in the church lecture room.

Mrs. Adrian Loomis has been visiting in Hobart.

Little Thomas McGrath has been visiting his aunt in Ashokan.

Arthur Short is clerking in the McGrath store.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Turner were callers in this place recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Pickens and family have moved into the former hotel property on Railroad avenue.

Mrs. George Baldwin was a caller at Mrs. Weyman's.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Gardner and son of Mt. Tremper were callers in this place Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Yerry of Allaben visited here Saturday evening.

Miss Francine Hoffman of Allaben is taking music lessons of Mrs. A. Perry Loomis. Donald and Margaret Tyler have also joined Mrs. Loomis's class.

Mrs. A. Delemater will spend the winter in the south again this year.

Mrs. Ina Shultis and staff of Agapae Lodge, Bearsville, installed the following newly elected officers of Tiskilwa Rebekah Lodge: N. G., Mary Morris; R. and L. supporters, Kathryn Johnson and Royal Morris; V. G., Mary Van Steenbergh; R. and L. supporters, Frances Hill and Helen Gulnac; recording secretary, Laura VanDeMark; financial secretary, Augusta Van Steenbergh; treasurer, Augusta Neice; W., Mary Sheppard; conductress, Jennie Breithaupt; chaplain, Nellie Johnson; I. G., Harriet Loomis; O. G., Archie Stewart; musician, Ruth Crosby.

Moved to Hospital.

The W. N. Conner private ambulance on Saturday evening moved Mrs. Amanda Miller from her home on Hanratty street to the Kingston Hospital. On Friday evening the Conner ambulance moved an elderly lady from Poughkeepsie to Kingston.

Siamese Twins Died in U. S.

The famous Siamese twins, Eng and Chang, were, as their names imply, born in Siam, being joined to one another by a band of flesh growing from chest to chest. They were early taken into the show business, being put on display in Europe and America. They finally settled in North Carolina, but were ruined financially by the Civil war. While residing in North Carolina they married sisters. Following the war they again returned to exhibition, touring Europe in 1869. They finally returned to North Carolina, where they died on January 17, 1874, the second dying two and a half hours after his brother. They had lived altogether 63 years.

At The Theatres

Today.

Kingston: "The Bowery." That most famous of all American streets, the Bowery, is the setting of this remarkable new picture, a picture that brings together Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper, one of the real movie teams of the present day. Young Mr. Cooper plays the made to order role of "Swipes," newsboy extraordinary, and his hero is the gangling, sloppy Chuck Connors, big shot of the Bowery. Then there is the smooth and tricky Steve Brodie, playing his cleverness against the blunt forcefulness of Connors. The love and devotion of "Swipes" for the rough and ready Connors is a jewel of character acting, splendidly done by Jackie Cooper. It's a common story of common people on a common street, brilliant in direction and cast, one of the really fine pictures of the year. George Raft, Fay Wray and Pert Kelton are featured in a large cast. The direction is by Raoul Walsh. Superlative entertainment.

Orpheum: "Perfect Understanding" and "The Pride of the Legion." Gloria Swanson's English made talkie of domestic unrest proves to be an average drama of modern matrimonial ideas, and Miss Swanson, in the starring role, supported by her new husband, Michael Farmer, does good work. Rin Tin Tin sparkles in the other feature, "Pride of the Legion," a melodrama of a dog hero. On Sunday's bill, the serial "Gordon of Ghost City" will also be shown as a regular part of the program.

Broadway: "The Solitaire Man." Most of the action in this murder mystery takes place on an air liner flying between Paris and London. The ever fascinating Herbert Marshall, as a crook among a group of other crooks abroad, plays his most engaging role since appearing on an American screen, and a distinguished cast lends ample support. Most of the crooks are well bred gentlemen, who decide to change their mode of existence into honest living. Unexpectedly, after they have decided to go straight, a circumstance forces them to abandon their plans; and Herbert Marshall, the smoothest thief of all, gets his companions out of a trying situation. Clever, amusing and well done, this mystery is grand entertainment. Elizabeth Allen, Lionel Atwill and Mary Boland are members of the cast. "Tarzan the Fearless," the serial thriller with Buster Crabbe, is also being shown as an added featurette.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: "Midnight Club" and "The Big Drive." E. Phillips Oppenheim's famed novel proves to be an enjoyable movie, with an exciting plot and a capable cast that includes Clive Brook, Helen Vinson, George Raft and Alison Skipworth. The show revolves around a song of clever with the social elect. Of course, the police decide to track them down, and they employ a smart young man to do the trick. A typical Oppenheim ending is the result. "The Big Drive" is a government film, depicting a rapid fire account of the war.

Broadway: "Hello, Sister" and "Murders in the Zoo." James Dunn, Zasu Pitts, Boots Mallory and Minna Gombell are to be seen in the first talkie, a romantic story of youth and its troubles. The plot concerns the work of scandal makers, and how gossip effects several lives before it is cleared up. Zasu Pitts steals the show with her enjoyable acting. "Murders in the Zoo" is a wild, unreal weird murder mystery that will cause almost any audience to be hanging on the side of the seat before the final fadeout. Charles Ruggles, Lionel Atwill, Randolph Scott, the Panther Woman, and John Lodge are in the cast.

American Boys Grow Fast

American boys grow faster than those in any other country in the world, says an investigator at the University of Virginia. Up until he is seven years old his growth is much greater than the German boy or the boy of eastern Europe. From the age of seven to the adult period he finds that in many cases the growth of the American lad is as much as 200 per cent over the Europeans and 67 per cent greater than the negro who is his closest rival. His slowest period of growth is from twelve to fifteen years.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The public demands new faces on the screen, and the public wants stars.

The public—mysterious, unfathomable group whose nickels and dimes make movies possible—doesn't know what it wants but knows what it likes when it gets it.

Movie producers, who admit they can't tell what the public wants, but are always trying to guess, hold to all three views. There is even an occasional brave soul among their number who ventures the opinion that what the public wants is simply a good story, well told.

Lasky Has A Scheme

But Jesse L. Lasky now has a scheme to test the truth of that supposed demand for new faces. It is a simple scheme, too, involving no talent contests, no searches for this or that type of actor, and no elaborate exploitation except the rather negative kind that will tell the truth—the truth being that it will be a picture featuring people the public never heard of before.

Lasky likes to challenge the trend, and the current trend is toward pictures with many stars. What he lacks in "names" he intends to compensate in story value.

"It may turn out to be a monumental flop," he admits, "but I have a hunch that it won't. The public wants novelty and I hope to give it to them in this no-name picture. Furthermore, I'm going to take the public into my confidence.

"I'm not going to fool them by creating fictitious values and 'blowing up' players they've never heard of or seen. I'm going to advertise the fact that these people are unknown, that some of them possibly will never see studio lights again, and that others will."

Taking A Gamble

The picture, he says, will be no 'million-dollar epic," but a moderate sum will be expended, and a good writer and an established director will be paid fair salaries to "take the gamble" with him.

Aside from its novelty, which intrigues him, the film will serve as a test, Lasky hopes, of the real public demand for new personalities, and of the box-office chances of an entertaining picture regardless of star names.

Another angle that interests him, he says, is his personal belief that there are at least a hundred extras in Hollywood who could make good if opportunity were given them.

To select the "unknowns" will be a task, but there's plenty of time—the picture is scheduled for early in January.

Catamount on Display at Ward's

A big catamount, shot by J. H. [illegible], of the Montgomery Ward store, is on exhibition in the store window, making a timely and appropriate feature of the sporting goods display. The big cat, which is about four feet long and weighs around 75 pounds, was killed near the old stone quarries about four miles west of Accord Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Barley were walking through the woods, when Mrs. Barley called attention to the fact that some animal, which she supposed must be a deer, was following them. Mr. Barley turned and seeing a pair of eyes gleaming in the dusk, fired his gun, being loaded with No. 4 shot. To his immense surprise a big animal leaped fifteen or twenty feet into the air and then lay still. After waiting till he was certain there was no danger of the animal staging a comeback, he investigated and found that the supposed fox was a catamount.

Lecture at No. 2 School.

Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a lecture by Dr. Frederic Holcomb on "Tuberculosis Tests." Fathers and mothers of pupils are requested to attend.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank my many friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during my recent bereavement.

Signed, CHARLES RIGGINS.

Conway and Walker Address Women

to month. Therefore the Legislature was called to grant it more power to levy further taxes upon its people.

"When we went to Albany we found that what New York city really wanted was not the power to levy more taxes upon its own people. Its proposal was that a sales tax be levied on all the people of the state for the particular benefit of New York city. The audacity of that proposal surpassed belief, but that is the fact. And here's the important consideration—that bill would have been passed and laid upon the governor's desk if the Democrats had controlled the Assembly. Every upstate Democratic Senator voted with Tammany's representatives for it. Only the Republican Assembly prevented that grave injustice from being worked against the people upstate. Carry that message to every voter, whether Democrat or Republican, that he may bear it in mind when he votes. No better object lesson could be conceived to show what it would mean to put a handful of unscrupulous politicians in complete control of the state.

"And then when the Republican Assembly killed this vicious bill, these leaders began to cast about for some other solution of their problem which would not affect their political control. Their endeavors were described by the New York Times as a "climax of stupidity" proving that "Tammany is utterly incapable of handling our public finances in an intelligent manner." For three weeks thereafter we sat around wasting our time, our own money and the money of the taxpayers waiting for the city of New York to propose its solution, while these Democratic leaders changed their minds from day to day, wrote and re-wrote bills but introduced none. They seemed to have had just one idea—tax everybody for the benefit of New York city. Frustrated in that attempt, they seemed incapable of formulating any other program. Had they proposed an equitable plan at the outset of the session the legislature could have finished its business in one week and saved the taxpayers of the state almost $100,000.

"Now we are going to have another special session—all for the city of New York! How much that will cost the taxpayers, no one yet knows, but remember this, the taxpayers throughout the state will have to pay for that session and all because of New York city's mismanagement.

"Democratic nominees for the assembly in New York city are campaigning on the issue that the city should get a larger share of the state taxes. A Democratic assembly will give it to them. A Republican assembly will not rob upstate for the benefit of the city of New York.

"And so when you talk with your Democratic friends do not let them be misled by that old story which goes like this: 'Forget New York city. I am the candidate and you know I wouldn't do anything like that nor vote to permit it to be done.' The plain fact is that those candidates would be forced into voting as those leaders directed.

"There are 73 Democrats in the assembly now. Sixty of that number come from the city of New York. Those sixty take their orders from the leaders of Tammany Hall. They have no choice. The remaining thirteen come from upstate sections. What voice do you think the thirteen have in the determination of their party's policy against the sixty? None at all. And so it would be if the Democratic party gained three more seats and thus got control of the assembly.

"From them we could expect a reapportionment of the state which would give them complete control of the legislature for many years to come. We could expect Ulster county and all other upstate counties to bear a heavy burden of taxation for the benefit of the city of New York. From a Tammany ruled Democratic majority we could expect graft and scandal, corruption and dishonesty in the state government, if past records mean anything, as it has been found in their own city of New York.

"They are the ones who propose to reform the County governments upstate. They are the ones who cry of over-lapping governments and worn-out offices in our county system and who propose to correct all the alleged faults in government—above the Bronx. You, my friends, are not deceived by such mock sincerity. Do not let your Democratic friends be so deceived. Party loyalty may blind a man to the reality of the position of his party, but facts are stubborn things. Let them know these facts.

"Compare the County of Ulster—one of only three counties in the state of New York which has no debt. The only county in the state of New York which reduced its budget by more than one-half. This old county of ours which for almost thirty years has been controlled by the Republican Party and which during all that time has its record unmarred by any breath of political scandal—I say, compare that kind of government with the government of the great city of New York, ruled by a small group of political czars who cover their conduct with the flag of Democracy and then decide which is your choice. Make up your mind that it is your duty to yourself, to your county and to your state to strive to free the people from this threat of domination by unfit leaders.

"Carry on the good fight. The people of this state irrespective of political allegiance, are honest and want honesty in government. It is our duty to tell them the truth. They will do the rest—by electing to office every Republican candidate."

Harry B. Walker spoke as follows:

"During the next two-year term of the Mayor, many appointments will be made to the city boards, such as the Board of Education, Board of Health, Fire Board, Police Board, Charities Board and Civil Service Board. The conduct of the affairs of the city depends largely on the type of citizens appointed to these boards.

"Particularly is this true of the Board of Education. The Board of Education has been officered, if not controlled, for the past 20 years by appointees of Republican mayors. During that time, the board has been efficiently, economically and fairly administered. Politics has not been allowed to enter the Board of Education. If a Democratic Mayor is elected here this fall, the control of the Board of Education will pass to the Democrats for the reason that the terms of four members of the board expire during the next two years, namely Fred J. Walter, Dr. Arthur Cragin, Charles Katz and Harry R. LeFever.

"There is but one way of judging the future and that is by the past. Judging by the past, we have seen during the present city administration politics enter the Water Board, for the first time in its history. We have seen a trained and competent officer of that board ousted for political reasons and replaced by one who was qualified by neither training nor experience to administer the affairs of this important department having the responsibility for the purity and safety of the water supply of this city.

"If elected Mayor, I will appoint the highest type of citizen available to the city boards and politics will not be allowed to enter."

The Women's Republican Educational League is a state wide organization with over ninety chapters, which has as its purpose the dissemination of more accurate knowledge concerning the important political issues of the state, counties, towns and cities. The headquarters of the league are in New York city, with Mrs. Rosalie Lowe Whitney state chairman. At the same time that the Kingston branch was holding its rally at the Governor Clinton Hotel, groups of Republican women were meeting at other county centers to better acquaint themselves with the major issues of this fall's political campaigns. Such meetings were held at Kerhonkson under the leadership of Mrs. Millard Davis and at New Paltz with Miss Cora DuBois as chairman. Among those who were active in organizing local groups to attend the meeting at Kingston were Mrs. Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland, Mrs. Henry Ellsworth of St. Remy, Miss Marguerite Quick of High Falls, Mrs John A. Dederick of Mt. Marion, Mrs. John Saxe of West Hurley, Mrs. Henry Lamouree of Saugerties, and Mrs. James Simpson of Phoenicia, Dr. Alice Divine of Ellenville and Mrs. William Limbacher of Sawkill.

THE VLY.

The Vly, Oct. 16.—The Vly school has an excellent attendance record, in that no one has been absent nor late thus far this year.

Clara Margaret Wynkoop, teacher in School District 13, reports that the following pupils have had perfect lessons in spelling during the past week: Harry Stange and Arnold Fedde.

Mrs. Kate Pratt visited Mrs. Moses Van Demark on Tuesday.

Mrs. Sperling made a business trip to Kyserike on Tuesday.

Eleanor Moeller was a caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leloh Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Carlton Krom visited her mother in Stone Ridge on Wednesday.

Miss Ethel Krom, Theron Coddington of New Paltz; Arthur Roney and Warren Eager of Montgomery, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krom on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Krom were callers in Kingston Sunday evening.

Two men dug for four hours last night to rescue Teddy.

P-s-s-t, Hidden Treasure

Salt Lake City—A hidden box containing a map and instructions for finding a cedar chest with a treasure valued at $10,000 figured in the will of Joseph E. Stevenson, 54. Joe Jensen, his grandson, is the beneficiary.

Stevenson penciled his will last April on two sheets of paper. Joe followed the directions and found the chest with a treasure that would delight the heart of any boy—guns, all kinds of guns, a collection prized by his grandfather.

"Y" Mercantile League Starts Oct. 18

The Y. M. C. A. Mercantile Bowling League has again been organized in Kingston and will open its season on Wednesday evening, October 18, on the Y. M. C. A. alleys at 7 o'clock with Faculty No. 1 playing Freeman on alleys 1 and 2 and Faculty No. 2 playing Universal Electric on alleys 3 and 4. At 9 o'clock the Kingston Trust Company will match with the Central Hudson on alleys 1 and 2. Alleys 3 and 4 will be open for other members of the "Y" who desire to play after 9.

President of the league this year is William E. Mellert, Jr., and the secretary is James W. Scott. These men have been interested in the Mercantile Bowling League for a number of years, and were elected by representatives of the various teams.

Teams which have entered the league are as follows: In the National Division, Faculty No. 1, Faculty No. 2, Kingston Trust Company, Central Hudson, Universal Electric and Freeman Publishing Company. These teams will bowl on Wednesday evenings. Thursday evenings is reserved for the American Division of the league, at which time the following teams will bowl: Babcock Farms, Everett & Treadwell, Fuller's Shirt Factory, Postoffice No. 1, Postoffice No. 2 and the Wonderly Company.

SEVEN-POINT BUCK WAS SHOT NEAR STONE RIDGE

A fine seven-point buck, weighing around 150 pounds was shot and killed and its companion knocked down, but apparently not fatally injured by hunters in the vicinity of the Lockwood farm, near Stone Ridge Sunday afternoon.

Granville Lockwood and Edward Bush of Stone Ridge and E. T. Hebart of New York city, who also has a home in Stone Ridge, were out in the fields between the Cantine Bridge and Stone Ridge. They saw three men hunting on the other side of the creek and also saw the two deer, the animals having been in that vicinity all summer. Suddenly there was a fusillade of shots and both deer, according to the story, fell. One of them arose immediately, however and made off through the woods.

The men rushed across the creek and picked up the other deer, which was dead. There was no sign of the men who had fired the shooting. The trail of the second deer was followed for some distance, but without success and whether it, too, finally died is not known.

The sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Vredenburgh and Trooper Reilly went out and brought the buck back to the court house. It will be turned over to the Tuberculosis Hospital.

DR. WYLIE WILL SPEAK IN KINGSTON TUESDAY

"Our reputations, the examples of the people nearest and dearest to us, and our own experiences, all join together to make our characters what they are", says Dr. Margaret Wylie, extension specialist of child guidance at the State College of Home Economics, who believes that character formation can definitely be guided toward a wholesome, satisfying personality.

Dr. Wylie will be in Kingston on Tuesday to talk on the influence of reputation, of example and of experience on character formation. The lecture will be given at the Y. W. C. A. at 1:30 o'clock. An invitation is extended to all interested to attend.

AN 8 TUBE ZENITH CONSOLE

...AT THE COST OF AN ORDINARY RECEIVER!

Make no mistake—this beautiful, full-sized 8-tube console is all Zenith! That's news because Zenith puts extra value in every radio it builds: for example, this set has a big, powerful, distance-getting receiver with Shadowgraph tuning to bring in "shaded" stations in full, clear volume. It has automatic volume control—and the newest type tubes to put punch and vigor into reception. It has a handsomely figured cabinet. All together a radio as inexpensive as you'll ever find! Come in and hear it!

Yellow Jackets Win Over Lucky Strikes Sunday by 6-0 Score

Showing much improvement over the way they campaigned against the Fordham A. A., losing 14-0, the Kingston Yellow Jackets shut out the highly touted Lucky Strikes of Albany by the score of 6-0 at the Fair Grounds Sunday afternoon.

Kingston's touchdown came near the end of the first quarter and was the work of Eddie Minasian, who bucked his way through the line, covering about five yards in making the score. Try for extra point failed. Although they failed to add to their tally, the Wasps turned back the Albanians in several hard drives for points.

Don Beany's presence in the line-up was a big help to the Jackets. His punts assisted greatly and his passing was the only means by which Kingston made any consistent gains. Mosby, the new end, also turned in a good performance.

Kingston's touchdown came in the latter part of the first quarter after an exchange of punts had given the Bees the ball in their own territory. Beany tossed a 25-yard pass to Minasian and the fleet little Italian carted the ball down to the enemy's 10 yard line. Gil Kelder bucked the line for five yards and on the next play Minasian took the ball through center for the touchdown.

Albany's aerial game—passes from Reilly to Buckley—was very effective in midfield, but for some reason the upstaters failed to employ this sort of attack when in scoring position.

Kingston's line gave an exhibition of strength in the third quarter when it held the Albanians on the goal line after the upstaters had marched about 85 yards down the field, mainly on passes.

Next Sunday the Yellow Jackets go to Sing Sing. Alabama Christmas, a teammate of Beany's on last year's West Point Artillery eleven, will be with the locals in the contest with Warden Lawes's men.

Yesterday's lineups:

L.E.—T. Joyce	Mosby
L.T.—Ruhland	Raible
L.G.—Webster	Howard
C.—G. Riley	Mohr
R.G.—Geisel	Steigerwald

BILLIARDS

City Championship.

Plans are being arranged for a city pocket billiard championship tournament at the Pioneer Athletic Club, Tony Gentile proprietor, at the corner of Broadway and Thomas street, starting as soon as enough contestants can be signed to compete for the honors won last year by Gentile and which he will defend. The tourney is open to all. First prize is $50. There are others, including $10 and $5 for high runs. Those interested in learning more about the competition may procure information at the Pioneer A. C.

Kastich Tourney.

The tournament at Nick Kastich's parlor, Wall street, opens tonight with Julius Tellier, former city champion, opposing Hymie Aduchefsky. Tellier is the favorite, but experts believe the margin of victory will be close.

Matches for the rest of the week:

Tuesday—Bill Messing vs. Fred Planthaber.

Wednesday—John Whitaker vs. Earl Mellow.

Thursday—Clifton Quick vs. Oscar Newkirk.

Friday—Kenneth Craig vs. Stan Warren.

High School Loses To Mont Pleasant, 6-0

Saturday Kingston High traveled to Schenectady, and after a bitterly fought contest, lost to a strong Mont Pleasant eleven that managed to defend a six point touchdown lead gained in the first quarter.

Kingston getting off to a poor start in the first half, Kingston came back in the second half and outplayed Mont Pleasant both on the ground and in the air, only to lose by heavy penalties and what was apparently bad breaks.

In the first quarter the Dorphians returned the kick off from their own 20 yard line to Kingston's 15 yard line by long and short runs by Stanton and Gorecke, who were outstanding throughout the game. In this first great onrush the Dorphians managed to gain 3 first downs before they were stopped by Kingston on their own 15 yard line. Immediately after Kingston gained possession of the ball, Tiano punted out of danger to midfield where Kingston stopped Mont Pleasant from advancing for two downs. On the third down Gorecke, Schenectady's great punter, kicked to Kingston's 8 yard line. Here Schenectady regained the ball and advanced it to the one yard marker of Kingston. From here Somers, Schenectady's left halfback, took the ball and by a line plunge took the ball over Kingston's goal line for the first and only score of the game. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful as an attempted placement kick was blocked by "Cowboy" Evory of Kingston. For the remainder of the first period the ball seesawed about midfield with Jim Cullum doing all the ball carrying that gained any ground for Kingston in that period.

Kingston Line Holds

In the second period Tiano kicked from Kingston's own 30 yard line to midfield, from where Stanton made a 40 yard run deep into Kingston's territory before he was stopped at Kingston's 5 yard line. In the shadow of the goal posts, Kingston stopped the Dorpians from advancing a single yard for four downs by the brilliant work of Zaccheo and Levy of Kingston's line. Tiano then got off a beautiful 50 yard punt which was recovered by Kingston. From here Burgevin made a brilliant 20 yard run to Schenectady's 25 yard line. Cullum then threw a pass, which was intercepted on Schenectady's 11 yard line, which was the closest Kingston got to their rivals' goal line in the first half. Here Gorecke came to the Monties assistance, and punted to midfield where the ball again seesawed about midfield for the remainder of the first half.

In the third quarter a kicking duel was staged between Gorecke of Mont Pleasant and Tiano of Kingston which was augmented by brilliant runs by Burgevin and Tiano who carried the ball for gains of 15 and 8 yards respectively.

Touchdown Ruled Out.

In the fourth period, Kingston's passing attack, Cullum to Burgevin, was outstanding, by which Kingston gained 45 yards. Cullum threw a pass to Burgevin who carried the ball to the 50 yard marker. Once again Cullum passed to Burgevin who caught the pass and with good interference ran through the entire Mont Pleasant eleven and crossed their goal line without a Mont Pleasant man within 20 yards of him. The officials, however, ruled that Burgevin had been forced out of bounds on the 35 yard line and called the ball back to this point, where a 15 yard penalty was imposed on Kingston which brought the ball back to the 50 yard line and ended one of the hardest fought grid battles in the history of K. H. S.

Captain Debrosky, Zaccheo and Levy starred on the line, while Tiano, Burgevin and Cullum were the main cogs in the backfield. Stanton and Gorecke starred for Schenectady. Next Saturday Kingston has a lay off before they tackle the Poughkeepsie gridders on the following Saturday. In place of the varsity, next Saturday the K. H. S. Seconds will tackle the New Paltz Normal School eleven at the Fair Grounds.

The lineup:

Kingston (6)		Mont Pleasant (6)
L.E.	Debrosky (Capt.)	Micklas
L.T.	Noce	Auticino
L.G.	Tomshaw	Bishop
C.	Ryan	Berce

Wilbur Club Takes Over Rondouts, 10-7

Sunday afternoon at Block Park, the Wilbur baseball team defeated the Rondout A. C. by the score of 10-7. Frankie Cullen pitched for the winning club, striking out 14 batsmen. Wenzel was his catcher. Jimmy Cullen, brother of Frank, and Uhl did the twirling for the Rondouts with J. Woods behind the bat. Home runs were made by Wenzel and Walt Letus of the Wilbur nine.

PUNTS and PASSES

(By The Associated Press).

Ann Arbor, Mich.—The Michigan-Ohio State game Saturday, which may turn out to be the deciding battle in the struggle for the big ten championship, has the fans puzzled when they try to pick the winner. Both have strong teams: Michigan has lost only one game in three years but that was to Ohio State in 1931; and the Buckeyes have won the last two games played in the Michigan stadium while losing the last two on their own field.

Oakland, Calif.—Here's one man who seems to have a permanent job. Professor James L. Haggerty, head of the philosophy department at St. Mary's College, has been the official time-keeper at St. Mary's-California games for the past 15 years.

University, Ala.—Tom Hupke, Alabama's star guard, has made a specialty of blocking punts with highly gratifying results in his three seasons he has blocked nine punts, one in the opening game this year, and twice this stunt of his has resulted in victories over Kentucky.

South Bend, Ind.—Notre Dame didn't look especially impressive in beating Indiana 12-2 Saturday but that was more than enough to preserve one college record. No Notre Dame team ever has gone through three successive games without scoring and the Ramblers had lost their last game of 1932 to Southern California 13-0 and played a scoreless tie with Kansas in this year's opener.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Finally Syracuse can speak of Ohio Wesleyan as a minor opponent without blushing. The battling bishops were originally scheduled with that in mind but they refused to accept the nomination until they were beaten 4-0 Saturday. In seven previous games they had taken only one defeat, winning four games from the orangemen and tying two.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

"What a ball player that fellow is," remarked Joe Cronin, as we departed for the moment from a discussion of the world series in the quiet of the Washington manager's hotel room.

"He can do about everything there is to do on a ball field, play most every position, throw with the best of them and when he hits a baseball, it stays hit, brother."

You might imagine such enthusiasm was in connection with his own great ball club and one of its outstanding stars but Joe Cronin was talking about James Emory Foxx, a rival but also a "great guy."

"Foxx is the outstanding player in the American League today," concluded Cronin. "You may think of him as only a slugger but I know he is one of the best defensive first basemen in the game. He can get 'em, stop 'em and play that bag with anybody."

Wise For His Years

That's typical of Joe Cronin when baseball is the subject. As he admits himself, he "eats and sleeps" baseball. It has been and will be his career for some time to come. He's just short of 27 and in his prime as a player. He takes splendid care of himself and he is one of the most popular men on the field.

Cronin is so busy thinking and playing baseball that he hasn't had time to get any exaggerated ideas about himself or his ability, either as a shortstop or as a manager. In poise and experience, he seems at least a half dozen years older than he actually is. He has an engaging frankness, yet he has the knack of knowing how far to go in any baseball discussion without getting into complications. Instinctively, Joe Cronin says and does the right thing, on or off the diamond.

Won It In June-July

Looking back over the American League season, Cronin remarked to me:

"I suppose most people think of that series we had with the Yankees early in August as the turning point of the race. It was important that we came back to win two games after losing a doubleheader to the champions but if I look back on it, I am convinced that our road trip in June and July was the factor that clinched our place at the top.

"When the Yankees left home about the same time we did, most everyone still felt the champions had the stuff to repeat. We kept going steadily, cutting down their margin, however, and stepped into the lead around the end of June when the Yanks faltered. We built up a good-sized margin by the time we got back to Washington and it helped tide us over an unexpected slump at home. Then when we hit the road, we were again going strong."

Army Flattens Delaware, 52-0

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP).—The Army light cavalry, deploying in the same formation that will go against Illinois at Cleveland October 21, on Saturday rode to a 52-0 victory over the University of Delaware in the best scoring drive they have mustered this season. Showing a big improvement over their first two games, "The Big Team" galloped up and down the field for six touchdowns in the first two periods, then retired to the sidelines to watch the second and third stringers hold Delaware safe through the last half of the game and score twice more for good measure.

The lineups:

Pos.	Army (52)	Delaware (0)
LE	Kopcsak	Hurley
LT	Hutchison	Nigels
LG	Gooch	Russo
C	Bucknam	G. Thompson
RG	Jablonsky (C)	Carey
RT	Beall	Palmer
RE	Burlingame	Pohl
QB	Johnson	Green
LHB	Buckler	Kemske
RHB	Brown	Branner (C)
FB	Stancook	E. Thompson

Army	26	13	6	7	—52
Delaware	0	0	0	0	— 0

Touchdowns—Buckler, Johnson, Brown, Beal, Burlingame, Simons (sub. for Brown), King (sub. for Johnson), Grohs (sub. for Stancook). Points after touchdown—Brown, Buckler, Simons, Grohs (all placements).

Last Saturday's Football Stars

(By The Associated Press.)

Herman Everhardus, Michigan, made three touchdowns, two on runs of 52 and 35 yards, against Cornell.

Corky Cornelius, Duke—Scored all his team's points in 10-2 victory over Tennessee.

Winnie Anderson, Colgate—Grabbed two long passes for touchdowns against Rutgers.

Clark and George Jordan, Arkansas—Completed pass for 55 yard gain and winning touchdown against Baylor.

Norman Franklin, Oregon State—Ran back opening kickoff 95 yards to score against San Francisco University.

Leonard Kachel, Bucknell—Blocked punt and fell on ball for touchdown that beat Villanova 19-17.

Barney Mintz, Tulane—Passed to Hardy for first touchdown against Maryland and ran 50 yards for second after intercepting pass.

Les Lindberg, Illinois—Dashed 74 yards to score against Wisconsin.

Cliff Montgomery, Columbia—Tallied twice after long runs and sprinted 62 yards to pave way for field goal against Virginia.

ROGER LOUGHRAN TO SPEAK TO PRESBYTERIAN MEN HERE.

Attorney Roger H. Loughran will be the speaker at the fall meeting of the Men's Club of Rondout Presbyterian Church to be held in the chapel of the church on Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, when a committee will serve a dinner to the men. The meeting is open to all men of the community and a nominal charge is made for the supper.

bail. He referred to Strewl's prior convictions and said that Strewl had been accepted by the kidnapers as an intermediary and that Strewl had later returned some of the $40,000 ransom money. Notes received by the O'Connell family he said had been examined by handwriting experts and indicated that Strewl had written them. He said Strewl was an acquaintance of Scarnici, that the kidnaping had been by a gang of ten people who had planned the crime. He said Strewl and two other men had planned the job two months prior to its execution but that he did not desire to make public the names of the other two men. At the Scarnici hide-out at Mt. Kisco he said had been found handcuffs and guns identified by O'Connell as instruments which he had observed during the time he was in the hands of the kidnapers. The cuffs had been identified by O'Connell by rust spots and the weapons were those given him to feel of during his captivity. Bandage and gauze was also identified by him at the time of the arrest of a gang in New York city. The cuffs he said were identified by O'Connell as those with which he was cuffed to a bed while in captivity.

Mr. Delaney said the police were still looking for other members of the gang which numbered ten. Of the gang two were under arrest in Rensselaer, two not apprehended were Albany men who had "jumped town," Strewl is under arrest at Albany and he said that he was confident the rest of the gang would be picked up very shortly.

However he said he would stipulate with Mr. Prior now that the case go to trial on November 13. If at that time all of the gang had been arrested they would all go to trial at that time, if not Strewl would be placed on trial. However, Mr. Prior said that twice before dates had been set for the Strewl trial and nothing came of either of the dates. He urged bail be fixed.

Judge Foster said that the record of Strewl was such that any court would be justified in refusing bail. He referred to the two felony convictions.

However Judge Foster said that he would take the papers of counsel in the matter, fix bail after due consideration and would also fix the date of trial.

Another Team for Scout Finance Drive

With the announcement of Roger Loughran, captain of team No. 9 of the Kingston Boy Scout campaign organization that his team was completed, the local set-up of seven divisions and 29 teams takes another step toward completion and toward opening of the campaign on Wednesday evening.

The following are the members of Captain Loughran's team which is part of Division "C" managed by H. M. Herzog: Harold V. Clayton, Robert K. Hancock, Clinton Finger, George Kotrady, Robert H. Hawksley.

The distribution of information concerning the Scout movement is expected to play an important part in this year's drive. Members of local Scout troops on Saturday and today have been distributing throughout the city copies of a booklet issued over the signature of Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, general campaign chairman, and accompanied by a letter signed by Kingston Chairman Charles W. Walton.

Part of the educational campaign is the displays being made in the store windows throughout the city by local Boy Scout troops. Troop No. 12, sponsored by the First Dutch Church, has put their display in the window of Sweeney & Schonger on Fair street; Troop No. 9, sponsored by Trinity M. E. Church, has arranged their display in the window of Herman LaTour, on 359 Broadway; Troop No. 6, sponsored by Albany Avenue Baptist Church, has worked out a window display in the store of L. S. Winne & Co.; and Troop No. 5, sponsored by the Downtown Jewish Community Center, is taking care of a similar display downtown.

No Diphtheria Here So Far This Year

Dr. L. E. Sanford Arranging For Additional Free Clinics Where Children Can Be Immunized From the Disease—First Two of Series to be Held October 25 and 26.

There have been no diphtheria cases reported in Kingston so far this year, according to Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, and in order that the city might be kept free from this disease he is arranging a series of additional free clinics to be held in various sections of the city, in addition to the regular weekly clinics held each Monday afternoon at the city hall.

The first two of the series of free clinics will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, October 25 and 26. The one on October 25, will be held in the Cordts Hose house on Delaware avenue, and the following day in the Rapid Hose house on Hone street. These clinics will be held from 3 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The fact that Kingston has been kept free from diphtheria is due largely to these series of free clinics that are held during the year in the city under the sponsorship of the board of health.

Parents who desire to have their children immunized from the disease should bring them to the clinics.

Local Boys in CCC To Go to New York

The Kingston boys who have registered for enlistment in the Civilian Conservation Corps will meet at the old armory on Broadway on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for final instructions. The boys will leave Kingston for New York city Wednesday morning where they will be assigned to some CCC camp. Just where they will be assigned is not known at the present time.

There is room for still a few more boys to fill the city quota and they should register for enlistment at once. If Kingston's quota is filled it means that 300 families in the city will be taken care of, as the family receives $25 each month from the government, while the boy receives $5 a month.

With Kingston's quota filled it means that $1,500 would be distributed here monthly among needy families by the government.

MEETING TONIGHT OF 8th WARD REPUBLICANS

There will be a meeting of the Fifth Ward Republican Club at its hall tonight at 8:00. A cordial invitation is extended all to attend.

Clinton Chapter Held Red Letter Meeting

The regular stated meeting of Clinton Chapter No. 445, Order of the Eastern Star was held at the Masonic Hall, 259 Wall street, on Friday evening, October 13. Regular business was transacted and the Worthy Matron read a detailed report on the recent Grand Chapter Session of the Order of the Eastern Star, held in New York city, October 10, 11, and 12. Miss Howard's report disclosed the fact that Clinton Chapter has reason to be proud this year in having their member R. W. Sister Alice M. Scardefield elevated to the office of Grand Conductress of the state of New York. Most Worthy Grace V. Merritt, elected to serve on the Social Service Board, and Worthy Sister Edna Van Tassell appointed Junior Deputy of the Triangle of the Daughters of the Eastern Star. During the meeting the Worthy Matron was delightfully surprised when the Floral Staff conferred upon her a beautiful Floral ceremony. Those taking part in the degree were The Floral Matron and Floral Patron Sister Bertha Waterman and Brother Edward M. Stanbrough and Sisters Helen Beatty, Katherine Mellert, Leila Harcourt, Mary Spencer, Rose Stearns, Alice Schiff, Margaret Anderson, Alice Abbott, Edith Taylor, Alberta Davis, Lydia Rich, Ellen Beecher, Harriet Huestis, Alvinette Gerlach, Georgianna Fraser, Florence Giles, Nellie Hazenbush, Flora Ostrander, Mary Ingalls and Elizabeth Whitbeck. Miss Howard responded briefly thanking the Floral Staff for the excellent manner in which the Floral Degree had been exemplified, and also thanked them for the cooperation they had been so willing to give whenever she had called upon them. In tribute to the Floral Matron the Worthy Matron quoted a lovely poem by an unknown author entitled "Just Friends." The Worthy Matron also thanked the Worthy Patron for his part in the evening's ceremonies and for his helpfulness throughout the year. Miss Alberta Davis delightfully entertained the chapter with several vocal selections which were enjoyed by all.

The meeting night of November 10 will be set aside for a reception to Clinton Chapter's recently elected Grand Officers.

As the officers were about to leave the room the soloist, Miss Mary Spencer sang "Many Happy Returns of the Day" in honor of the worthy matron's birthday. Following the solo a birthday cake lighted with candles was presented to the worthy Matron accompanied by a gift from the official family and gifts from friends. Miss Howard again thanked the officers and the friends.

The meeting then adjourned and refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Oct. 16.—The regular weekly practice of the Firemen's Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps will be held this evening.

A meeting of the Missionary Society will be held at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Virgil Britt.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jump, daughter, Lois, and son, Cleon, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Brainard have returned from a delightful visit to the Century of Progress in Chicago.

Miss Martha Goertz of Beacon spent Thursday and Friday with her brother and sister-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. Philip Goertz, at the Reformed parsonage.

A meeting of the Doreas Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Floyd Beesmer at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. Mrs. Beesmer and Mrs. Charles Van Orden will be the hostesses.

The annual fair of the Ladies' Aid and Priscilla Societies of the Methodist Church will be held Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. A delicious turkey supper will be held the first evening and a turkey patty supper the second evening. There will be a homemade candy booth, a children's mystery booth, a fancy article booth and a Florida booth at the fair. Pleasing entertainment will be given both evenings.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ben Scholten and daughter, Patricia, of Accord, spent Saturday with the Rev. and Mrs. Philip Goertz.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Short, daughter, Elaine, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Short and son, Albert, spent the week-end with Mr. Short's brother, Harry and family in Greenfield, Mass.

German Withdrawal Drawing Comment

(By The Associated Press.)

"This is no time for panic."

Such, in brief, was the worldwide reaction today to Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations and the disarmament conference and the international developments which followed, a grave view of resultant situation was shared by all.

"We are facing the possibility of another war," cried Senator William E. Borah, Idaho Republican, at Boise.

But, added the former chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, no single nation is to blame. "It is the fruit of the policies of many nations."

At Washington, however, Secretary of State Cordell Hull placed the blame for impeding world progress toward disarmament squarely up to the Reich.

In other quarters the reaction was:

London—Newspapers urged Great Britain to remain cool, insisting that peace was not necessarily threatened. Urging denunciation of the Locarno peace pact, Lord Beaverbrook reminded that if bound France under certain conditions to demand British support in military movements against Germany.

Paris—"The situation is grave," said a foreign office spokesman, "but France is keeping cool." Official silence was expected to be maintained until Tuesday, while England and the United States reaction is noted. Significantly, Minister of Pensions Edmond Mielket said at Belfort that despite the need for economy, "the budget for national defense will not be touched."

Rome—Some delegates at Geneva expressed the opinion Italy might have known beforehand of Germany's plans to withdraw, but official sources at Rome affirmed their complete and sincere surprise. "Although unexpected," said the official news agency, Stefani, "the decisions taken by the German government were learned with greatest calm."

Moscow—Although "not all neighbors of the Soviet country are carrying on a police of peace," said Vyaschelsaff Molotoff, president of the Council of Commissars, "Russia is bent on continuing negotiations" for "real disarmament."

Tokyo—The Japanese army and navy saw in Germany's stand a "clincher" for contentions for a huge military budget for the next two years.

Budapest—Rumors spread after an Hungarian Cabinet meeting that the country was leaving the League of Nations—but there was no verification. The official statement merely was that the body "took decisions."

tracted the most popular interest was the crossing of the Hudson river, where the tunnel was driven in granite rock at a depth of 1,114 feet below sea level. This 14-foot tunnel extends from a shaft at Storm King mountain on the west bank to another shaft on the east side of the river at Breakneck mountain, a distance of 3,022 feet.

In 1916, Mr. Smith was awarded the John Fritz medal for "achievement as engineer in providing the city of New York with a supply of water." This medal is awarded by the four national engineering societies and is considered the highest honor obtainable in the engineering profession. In the same year he was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering by Stevens Institute of Technology and of Doctor of Science by Columbia University.

On May 31, 1922, he resigned as Chief Engineer and has since been acting as Consulting Engineer of the Board of Water Supply, this making it possible for him, being relieved of the executive duties, to act as Consulting Engineer on other projects. He was Consulting Engineer on the Moffat tunnel in Denver and on new water supplies for Boston, Providence, Kansas City, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Kingston and Vancouver.

He wase an Honorary Member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Water Works Association, New England Water Works Association and member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Institute of Consulting Engineers, American Public Health Association, Institution of Civil Engineers of Great Britain, Boston Society of Civil Engineers, Franklin Institute, New Jersey Sanitary Association, Municipal Engineers of New York City, New England Society, Century Association, Engineers Club, City Club, Pleiades Club, Technology Club.

Von Hindenburg May Give Up Presidency

Berlin, Oct. 16: (AP).—When the German nation marches to the polls November 12 to give Chancellor Adolf Hitler unanimous endorsement, it may unwittingly put an end to the German presidency.

There are indications that President Von Hindenburg, after the nation has overwhelmingly endorsed Hitler and his policies, may decide that the moment has come when he can lay aside the cares of office and retire to his home at Neudeck—thus making Hitler Germany's supreme ruler in name as well as in fact.

It is an open secret, though the press says nothing about it, that the question of Von Hindenburg's retirement has been under consideration both by himself and the Hitler cabinet.

Devotion to duty kept the 86-year-old chief of state from resigning so long as the Nazi regime was not completely intrenched.

There is also little doubt that Von Hindenburg, from a sense of loyalty to his former sovereign, would be happiest if he could resign in favor of Wilhelm II.

In this connection, the recent visit of Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm to Neudeck was much commented upon in political circles.

However, among Nazi storm troopers, who are the backbone of the Hitler regime, there is little enthusiasm for a monarchy.

Services Prove Popular.

There were large and attentive congregations present in the Free Methodist Church located on Tremper avenue between Downs and O'Neil streets on Sunday. In the evening the church was filled to capacity to hear the young evangelists, the Rev. A. E. Jefferson and wife, preach and sing the gospel message. The Rev. and Mrs. Jefferson are said to particularly appeal to young people, who are invited to these services which will be held every evening including Saturday, commencing promptly at 7:45. They are not lengthy and full of life from beginning to end. Everyone invited.

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF ULSTER—ADAM MULLER, Plaintiff, against GEORGE MULLER, et al., Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of partition and sale duly made and entered in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster, in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 12th day of October, 1933, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction on the 20th day of November, 1933, at twelve o'clock noon on that day at the front door of the Ulster County Courthouse in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described as follows:

All that tract or parcel of land situate at Bloomington, in the Town of Rosendale, County of Ulster and State of New York, conveyed to George Hoffman by William D. Brinnier and Christina Brinnier, his wife, by deed bearing date April 20, 1908, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book of Deeds No. 410 at page 420, and therein bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a stake set in the ground at a point along the road leading from the Cement Quarries of Connelly and Shafer to Greenkill three hundred and seventy-two feet and one half east of the main road leading from Creek Locks to Kingston and running thence North along the lands of Ira Delzo one hundred feet to a stake; thence East along the lands of Harvey and Rachel Hoffman fifty feet to a stake; thence South along the lands of the said Harvey and Rachel Hoffman one hundred feet to a stake; thence West along said Greenkill Road fifty feet to the place of beginning, being the same premises conveyed by Silas Brink and Ida M. Brink, his wife, to said Peter Rusky, by deed dated March 22, 1924 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on March 24, 1924, in Liber 592 of Deeds at page 420.

Townsend Elected C.E. President

The 42nd Annual Convention of Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union Held in New Paltz Reformed Church on Saturday—Dr. MacCracken Spoke at Evening Session.

Milton P. Townsend of Napanoch was elected president of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union at the 42nd annual convention held in the New Paltz Reformed Church at New Paltz on Saturday afternoon and evening. The other officers elected were: First vice president, Mary Langwich of New Paltz; second vice president, Edmund Osterhoudt of Flatbush; secretary, Dora H. Pratt of Kingston; assistant secretary, Mildred Freer of Port Ewen; treasurer, Beatrice S. Powley of Kingston; junior superintendent, Frances Roosa of New Paltz, and pastoral counsellor, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd of Woodstock. The members of the advisory committee are L. C. Dixon of Hurley, Mrs. M. E. Maynard of Highland and Edwin H. Hummell of Port Ewen.

The convention opened Saturday afternoon with a song service led by the Rev. B. R. Branson of Clintondale, followed by the devotional period in charge of the Rev. Vernon O. Nagel of the New Hurley Reformed Church.

The convention was welcomed by the Rev. Gerret Wullschleger, pastor of the entertaining church, and was responded to by Miss Beatrice S. Powley, president of the county union.

"High Spots" of the Buffalo state convention was given by Miss Mabel Finley, a Christian Endeavorer of Newburgh, and she closed with the words "Newburgh next" as that is where the state convention is to be held next year.

A new and novel part of the convention program was the junior demonstration, in which the juniors of the Ulster county union, under the efficient leadership of the county superintendent, Miss Roosa, put on a junior C. E. meeting.

An open forum discussion was held under the direction of the Rev. Mr. Branson and many problems confronting societies were discussed.

Following the afternoon session the convention banquet was held in the banqueting hall of the church. A feature of the banquet was the presentation of a wedding cake by Miss Frances Roosa, to the new president and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Milton P. Townsend, and Miss Powley on behalf of the county union, presented them with an electric clock.

The evening service opened with songs and devotions led by the Rev. D. S. Haynes of the Highland Presbyterian Church.

The reports of the officers and committees were received and approved. The rewards committee reported that the attendance shield would go to the newest society in the union, the society from Zena. The loving cup was given to the Flatbush society, they having the largest number of delegate miles.

The 1934 convention will be held in Kingston, the First Baptist Church and the Wurts Street Baptist Church to be the hosts.

The officers elected at the afternoon session were installed by the Rev. Gerret Wullschleger of New Paltz.

During the evening Jay LeFevre of New Paltz sang "Trees" and Professor A. B. Bennett of the New Paltz State Normal School faculty entertained with some readings.

The convention address was delivered by Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar College, Poughkeepsie. His theme was "Christ a Student." In his address he said that one to be student as Christ was should try to cultivate some of the traits of Christ, such as to have a sense of value; a sense of beauty; to take the attitude that we are to share and share alike with others; to have certain achievements and not just to live from day to day, and to have certain ideals that might spell success. If one possessed those and a few other traits they would be well on the road as a student of Christ.

The convention was brought to a close with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" and the Mispah Benediction.

DAVISON RELATES THRILLING STORY OF ELEPHANT HUNT

Trips as He Fires His Last Shot at Maddened Charging Bull.

New York—Details of the exciting elephant hunt in which F. Trubee Davison, president of the American Museum of Natural History, and Mrs. Davison were charged by a great bull are related in a letter to his sons by Mr. Davison.

Excerpts from the letter were made public at the museum. Mr. and Mrs. Davison with Lieut. Elwood R. Quesada as their pilot left New York last June to join the Martin Johnsons at Nairobi on an expedition for four "shamba" or outlaw elephants to complete a group for the Akeley African hall at the museum.

The letter tells of the discovery of the herd, the five hour trailing through the thick bush and finally how, when a great bull charged them, Mrs. Davison stood her ground, by her husband, steadily turning a motion picture camera until she was knocked flat when her husband tripped after firing.

Sight Fifteen Elephants.

On August 3, before daybreak, with automobiles and trackers, the Davisons set out to complete their bag. The native trackers soon located a herd. The white hunters hurried after them, with guns and cameras, and sighted between twelve and fifteen elephants bunched, heads together, less than a hundred feet away. The herd moved off slowly. Then, wrote Davison:

"For five hours we followed and studied them, often very, very close, but never sure enough of any particular one to shoot. Believe me, it was a thrilling five hours! They looked as big as the Grand Central station, but there was one very cunning little calf about two feet high, playing around the old folks.

"At last a calfless one presented a fine target, and I fired. Then started the most exciting and dangerous two minutes I have ever been through. My bullet hit the cow in the neck and broke the spinal cord. She went down, instantly killed. It sounded like a ton of bricks falling.

"Immediately the herd stampeded and milled around in every direction, as they didn't seem to know where the danger was. But within two or three seconds a big bull picked us out and came for us like an express train.

"Can you imagine how we felt? As a matter of fact, we didn't have time to think. Another had her movie camera going all the time and was standing back of me.

Face Elephant Charge.

"Well, the elephant came and came and came, followed by the herd. Klein yelled at him, hoping to turn him, but still he came. I had one shell left in my double-barreled gun and shot at his head. Klein and Pete shot at the same time. I was off my balance and we were in a fairly thick bush.

"My foot caught as I stepped back from the kick of the gun and down I fell on my back in the thorn bushes. Now, two things happened as I fell: First, I saw the bull go down, and, secondly, I knocked your mother down, too. We were lying flat on our backs in the thorns. Pete shot again.

"After what seemed an hour we got out of the thorns and followed the rest back, my gun empty. After the bull had gone down, the herd disappeared. We weren't a bit sorry to see them go out of sight."

Girl Kills Her Suitor After Love Grows Cold

Belgrade—Daughter of a noble Russian family, a schoolgirl in Belgrade found tragedy in her secret engagement to marry a bank clerk. One day she went to see him at his quarters when he did not keep an appointment. He refused to speak to her, and when she kept knocking at the door he turned her away roughly and told her never to visit him again.

Early next morning she slipped into his room. At 7 a. m. when the maid took the bank clerk his morning coffee she dropped the tray and ran shrieking from the room. On the bed lay the bank clerk, shot dead in his sleep, and on the floor was the body of the little schoolgirl, driven to desperation by the man whose love for her had grown cold.

Indian Scout Catches Animals With a Lariat

El Reno, Okla.—Col. B. R. (Idaho Bill) Pearson, one of the few surviving Indian scouts, maintains bears, lions and leopards all can be captured easily and uninjured with a lariat.

Stopping here, he recalled that though he was past sixty years in age at the time, he roped, loaded on a truck and took to Washington single handed a 700-pound bear as a present to the late President Calvin Coolidge.

Idaho Bill was intimately acquainted with Col. W. F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody, Maj. Gordon W. (Pawnee Bill) Lillie, Deadwood Dick, and other famous frontier figures. Though in his 70s, he still wears cowboy clothing, long white hair and a goatee.

Hen Chokes on Own Heart

Hartford, Kan.—The old saying, "My heart was in my throat," proved true here. It was in a case of an old hen that was found choking. Unable to relieve the fowl, the head was chopped off, and sure enough, the chicken's heart was lodged in its throat.

Declares the Atom Still Bundle of Uncertainties

What does an atom look like? Thirty years ago, says New York Times, it was supposed to be a miniature solar system—a nucleus of mixed electrons and protons (hydrogen hearts) around which other electrons revolved. Such a structure could be drawn on paper and imagined. But Prof. Niels Bohr shattered it and won the Nobel prize in consequence. He showed that the electrons, instead of revolving around the nucleus in an orderly planetary way that could be predicted, actually jumped in a very unplanetary way from one orbit to another. In the process they emitted light, heat, electric waves and perhaps other forms of energy. From that day cause and effect disappeared, for there was no way of predicting what an electron was doing from one moment to another. It turned out that the orbits were only average positions.

What an atom is only the mathematicians can tell us, and their equations deal only with leaping electrons. In the California Institute of Technology Professor Bohr advised his hearers to forget about atomic models. All that we can do is to discuss masses and charges, and these cannot be pictured on paper. Models imply certainty. The atom is a bundle of uncertainties. The advice is not comforting but sound. It is better to have no picture than one which is totally wrong.

Psalm Book Was First Published in America

The first book published in America was a psalm book, published at Cambridge, Mass., in 1640, twenty years after the landing at Plymouth Rock. This was the first book published in what was sometimes called English America, in contradistinction from the Spanish possessions. It was known as the Bay Psalm Book, being intended for use in what was then called the colony of Massachusetts bay, and it was printed by a pious Puritan of this period, named Stephen Dane. A small printing press and a font of black-faced type were brought over from England, and the versified psalms were printed as then sung in England, in the quaint spelling and phraseology of the period. The edition consisted of 1,700 copies, and served to supply the colonies for quite a long time. In 1903 ten copies were known to be extant, and as they were in libraries or the hands of book collectors who knew their value, they probably still are in existence.

Firefly Is Efficient

The firefly is many times more efficient as a manufacturer of light than the most modern of human installations, according to a professor who lectured on "Infra-Red and Wireless Waves," at the Royal Institution, says the Montreal Herald. "Even in the very best lamps," said the professor, "only about 10 per cent of the radiation is visible to the human eye; the remainder is wasted as infra-red or heat radiations. An economy fortune awaits the man who will discover how to make 'cold' light on an 'industrial scale. So far the most efficient makers of the light are the luminous insects and bacteria, which know how to carry on chemical reactions to produce cold light. Experiments show, for example, that the firefly produces light which is all within the range of human visibility."

Our National Emblem

The eagle became our national emblem when it was placed on the Great Seal of the United States adopted by the Continental congress on June 20, 1782. As a national emblem, the eagle is not peculiar to the United States, but is the emblem of several modern countries, and was the principal device on the standards of a number of ancient nations. The eagle as our national emblem was suggested by William Barton of Philadelphia. However, he suggested the crested eagle and not the American or bald-headed variety. The secretary of congress, Charles Thompson, who modified the design of the Great seal, put the eagle as the central figure and specified that it should be an American eagle.

Labor Is a Blessing

Work is an honor. The dishonor is in not knowing how or in shirking your share, says a writer in the New York World-Telegram. One man takes his work as a stone around his neck and sinks to failure. Another takes it as a stepping stone and mounts to success. Nothing but work provides lasting satisfaction. Work has a pleasure value of much worth, as is illustrated by the fact that children like best the toys that call not for mere observation but for self-activity. Work, and work alone, can give continuing pleasure. We soon grow weary of play, find the delights of the scenes short-lived, but labor is a blessing of outstanding significance and magnitude.

Switzerland's Languages

The principal languages of Switzerland are German, spoken by 71 per cent of the people; French by 21 per cent, and Italian, by 6 per cent. Other languages are Romansche and Ladin. By the federal constitution of 1848 and 1874, German, French and Italian are recognized as national languages, so that debates in the federal parliament may be carried on in any of the three, while federal laws and decrees appear also in the three languages. The old dialects of Romansche and Ladin do not have any political recognition by the confederation.

Planning Music for Luther Anniversary

Sunday evening at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer at the meeting of the joint music committee recently appointed by the eight churches uniting for a celebration of the 450th birthday of Martin Luther, Sunday afternoon, November 12, at 2:15 o'clock, Prof. Leonard Stine was appointed director to lead the joint choir which will furnish the music for the service. The committee asked Herman LaTour and Prof. Richens to assist Mr. Stine in arranging the program for the choir. It is hoped that over 50 voices will compose the choir. The committee recommended that one of the anthems to be sung by the choir be one based on Luther's famous hymn, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God."

The Rev. Paul Young, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, presented a paper on Luther's contribution to church music, telling particularly about Luther's hymn.

Pastor Young said:

"Luther, whose 450th birthday we are preparing to celebrate, is known not alone as the 'Father of the Reformation' nor as Michelet, one of the Roman Catholic's greatest writers, refers to him, as the 'restorer of liberty in modern thought.' He is also known as Dr. Krauth says, the Father of Congregational singing.

"Since we are gathered to prepare the musical program for the 450th anniversary, it is appropriate that we look at 'Luther the Hymnist.'

"John Huss was the forerunner of the Reformation and of congregational singing, but failed. In Bohemia in 1505 a hymn book containing 400 hymns is supposed to have been edited and vanished.

"In 1524, Luther published the 'Acht Lieder Buch' for congregational singing. Before this the hymns had been chanted by the priests and the choir.

"Dr. Schaff in his Julians Dictionary of Hymnology says his hymns are characterized by simplicity and strength and a popular churchly tone. Well has Luther been called 'The Ambrose of German Hymnody'. He was the author of at least 37 hymns, the greatest of which are the 'Cradle Hymn' and his 'Ein Feste Burg,' known as the 'Marseillaise of the Reformation.'

"As to the origin of the hymn, prevalent impressions hold that Luther wrote it on his way to Worms and then chanted it. This supposition is based on the third stanza where he says, 'I'll go though there are as many devils in the city as there are tiles on the roofs of the houses.' It was composed just before the Diet of Augsburg, 1529, and was written in the Castle Coburg. According to D'Aubigne, the historian, it was sung at Augsburg and throughout Saxony.

"The hymn was suggested by the 46th Psalm. It was the sustaining prop of Luther and Melanchthon in the hour of trial and perplexity. Mr. Stead says, 'Truly it was made in Germany.' Sleidan, a contemporary historian, says, 'Luther made for it a tune singularly suited to the words and adopted to stir the heart.' Leonard Woolsey Bacon says 'If ever there were hymns and tunes that told their own story of a common and simultaneous origin, they are Luther's.'

"Of this hymn Dr. Bernard Pick—a leading American authority on the hymns of Luther says, 'There are no less than 90 distinct translations of Luther's Battle Hymn into English and this hymn is translated into 50 different languages.' It is found in almost every Protestant hymnal. This hymn was sung at Luther's funeral and its first line is carved on his tomb in the Castle Church at Wittenberg.

"This hymn is a true defensive hymn. The Moravians use it at their revivals. Whilst David Nitschman's meeting was being broken up by the police he was singing this hymn. He and John Wesley used it in Georgia when they settled in America. It resounded on the battle fields of Leipsig and Lutzen, as the men fought for religious liberty. It was the rallying cry during the Thirty Years War.

"During the Boxer uprising in China, Charles C. Lewis says 'It was our stay and strength. Then we knew what that first line meant.' At Paoutingfu, after the rebellion, a memorial service was held for the martyred servants of the cross, where they fell. Here this great hymn was sung.

"'Independent of its religious significance' says William Lee Hunton, 'this hymn found favor with the musical critics as a suitable choral for great gatherings. It was the choice for the grand chorus to sing in one of Boston's greatest musical festivities'.

"As the stirring words and music of the Marseillaise stir the French, so have the words of this immortal hymn stirred the people of Christendom throughout the world. It is the Battle Cry of the Reformation. It is the confession of faith of the Protestant Church and it is the rededicatory hymn of all who love religious liberty. If we are to secure its true blessing then we must put into it our heart, soul and dedicate our lives to religious freedom."

YOUNG PEOPLE TO MEET IN VESTRY OF AHAVATH ISRAEL

A meeting of the young people of the Congregation Ahavath Israel will be held in the vestry Tuesday evening, October 17. All those who intend to join are invited to be present. This meeting will be devoted to the election of officers and the formulation of a program of activities for the season. A very active and interesting year is in store for the organization. Rabbi Samuel Epstein, spiritual leader of the synagogue, will be the adviser of the group.

Ahavath Israel Card Party

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Congregation Ahavath Israel, corner Spring and Wurts streets, will hold a card party in the vestry this evening at 8:30. The public is cordially invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Oct. 16.—Mr. Van Wagenen of Kingston, who recently purchased the Blue Gates property on the Moonhaw road of Mrs. Maud C. Graves, has taken up his residence there. Mrs. Graves, who after making extensive improvements, conducted the place successfully for the past two seasons, as an inn, has returned to Kingston.

Former Commissioner of Highways Egbert Bolce of Watson Hollow, has purchased a new Chevrolet sedan of Supervisor Chester Lyons, proprietor of the Ashokan agency. The delivery to Mr. Bolce was made Friday.

Mrs. Judge Winchell of Sunny Cliff Gardens spent Thursday evening with her down glen neighbors, Mrs. Ida Steen and Mrs. Katherine Bolce.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Burgher attended the Friday night meeting of Clinton Chapter, O. E. S. in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Avery of Maple Dell left Saturday morning for their annual vacation trip along the western New York border tier and over into Pennsylvania. Mr. Avery expects to return for the opening gun of the deer season.

Harlowe McLean of Brodhead was entertained Friday evening at the home of his Brodhead Heights neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Moore. Mrs. Moore before marriage was Miss Freda Krum, well known school teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. La Monte V. Simpkins of Woodstock were callers at West Shokan Heights Friday. Mr. Simpkins is secretary of the Woodstock Mutual Fire Insurance Association.

The local election board had a busy day Saturday, counting from last year's register, making corrections and adding new names at the first day of registration.

The familiar Jordan cider mill in West Shokan Heights is now open and doing custom making. This mill stands on approximately the same site as the old horse sweep mill operated by Andrew and Barnet Eckert 40 years ago.

A number about this locality are planning to attend the Samsonville church supper Tuesday, October 17.

Elwyn Davis and Mrs. Watson Bishop of West Shokan Heights were callers Friday morning at the office of Dr. John C. Gross in Phoenicia.

Dr. Henry Merle Meelen closed his familiar summer retreat, "Bear Trap Spring Camp", on the Samsonville road and returned to his home in Atlantic City, N. J.

Judge and Mrs. Henry Winchell were entertained for the day recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Merrihew in Kramville. Mr. Merrihew, a prominent south Olive dairy and poultry farmer, has been taking some hospital treatment of late. He is now convalescing nicely according to report.

Contractor Edwin Gessner of Olive Bridge is renovating the interior of the Alfred Scott residence in Shokan now occupied by the new physician, Dr. Cosgrove and family.

Supervisor Chester Lyons of Ashokan was a business caller here Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Lottie Campbell is employed at the home of former Commissioner of Highways and Mrs. John Kelder of Samsonville. Mrs. Kelder, convalescing from a critical operation during the month of August, is unable to attend to her farm household duties.

Mrs. Albert Coddington of Pataukunk, owner of the local milk hauling route, was a business caller here recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Every were among prominent west siders to attend the Ashokan Methodist chicken supper Wednesday evening.

Congratulations are extended Mrs. Katherine Sherman, who celebrated her birthday anniversary Thursday.

The William Morrison cottage on the former Haver farm near Traver Hollow, and later acquired by the late Mr. Lambert, is being painted. The building was extensively remodeled several years ago by Mr. Morrison but has never been occupied. The barn, to which a long cow shed addition was built by Mr. Lambert in 1916, is now showing urgent need of repairs.

Farmer Martin Eckert of Main street and Watson Hollow has a drove of some 23 hogs of various sizes which he is preparing for the fall market. Mr. Eckert is beating the high cost of feed by the use of C. C. C. camp garbage in Boiceville, which he gathers daily by truck.

Friday night brought the season's first visitation of frost.
